Luthern Old Folks Home Festival Sunday

Thousands are expected to attend annual event

The Lutheran old folks home festival, to be held next Sunday, July 11, on the grounds of the home at Arlington Heights, will have two outstanding churchmen as speakers. Dr. Carl S. Munding, president of Saint John's Lutheran college, Winfield, Kansas, will speak in the morning at 10:30, and Dr. F. C. Streufert, the Missouri synod's secretary of missions, St. Louis, Missouri, will speak at 3 p. m. Thousands of visitors from Chicago and other points in northern Illinois will be present at the festival to hear them.

Professor Carl S. Munding, M. A., Ph. D., is an author as well as an instructor and lecturer. Dr. Munding is an authority on the history of the Saxons who immigrated to St. Louis in 1839 and founded the Lutheran Missouri Synod, now an international Lutheran church with far flung churches and missions, known in every continent through Dr. Walter A. Maier's radio program, the Lutheran Hour.

Dr. F. C. Streufert, secretary of missions for the Missouri Synod, recently completed a 15,000 mile tour of South and Central America. To the festival audience he will bring a stirring message as to the church's responsibility toward its aged Christians. Later in the afternoon he will portray interesting and dramatic missionary experiences in the various mission fields of South America.

Visitors at the festival will find refreshment stands open from 12 noon until 3 p. m. and following the afternoon service. The stands will serve ice cream, soft drinks, candy, sandwiches, and lunches. As in other years the visitors will enjoy eating their lunches on the home's grounds.

A fancy goods booth on the front lawn of the home will offer exquisitely made fancy goods for sale. One of the outstanding attractions of the festival, the fancy goods booth will display articles prepared by a ladies group of St. Peter Church and others, Arlington Heights, and by residents of the home. A number of ladies' groups of greater Chicago have also participated by furnishing goods and others by monetary contributions.

The choir of Immanuel Lutheran church, Palatine, will participate in the afternoon's entertainment. The Harmony Band of Chicago, directed by Dr. Royal Reimer, besides playing for the services will also entertain the festival guests. Miss Ruth Pfotenhauer, Chicago, will sing for the afternoon service as well as for the entertainment.

Traffic will be directed by Arlington Heights police and deputy police. Saint Peter Boy Scouts, Troop 37, and Troop 7, Arlington Heights, will assist them and also perform messenger and other needed services. Troop 7 will furnish a first aid tent.

Nurses of Walther Memorial hospital, Chicago, will be on duty to furnish first aid.

Chicago motorists use 'Elia-Palatine road' for race track

Four Chicago youths and one from Park Ridge were arrested on charges of reckless driving at Palatine and Elia roads, Palatine township, late Thursday night by the Morton Grove county highway police.

The youths, according to Sgt. John Selle, were racing one another on motorcycles along Elia road near the intersection. The highway police made the arrest on the complaint of Harold Vogt, Route 2, Palatine.

Previous complaints for the past several weeks brought the police to the "race track." Sgt. Selle said, but the men eluded the deputies each time.

Those arrested Thursday were Richard Ecklund, 21, of 1755 West Arthur, Park Ridge; Allen Sinedell, 20, of 1712 Albion avenue; Henry Merz, 21, 1932 Maple avenue; and John Tobin, 21, of 1748 Albion avenue, and John Szymkowski, 20, of 5719 Pensacola avenue. The latter four are all Chicagoans.

The youths, who were released after posting bonds of $50 each, will be arraigned in the Morton Grove police court July 11.

Arlington Heights youths, adults enjoy movie roles

"Even the weather in Arlington Heights is cooperating," Robert Wesley, production manager for the education movie being staged here, commented Tuesday afternoon.

"The kids are well-behaved and eager to help, and Frank Vokac and his assistants at Recreation park are doing a good job of organizing the scenes we want to shoot. And the weather, well, Arlington Heights has even better outdoor-movie weather than we've thought possible."

Filming of the educational movie, featuring model recreational facilities for youngsters in Arlington Heights, is in the second week of production and is one-fourth completed.

"So far most of the shots have been outdoor scenes at Recreation park with kids on the baseball diamond and in the swimming pool," Wesley added.

THE shooting so far has depicted the facility of creating an extensive playground system that does not have proper leadership. Scenes have been faked to show youngsters doing what they shouldn't do on a playground. In one scene, a boy is shown stealing a horn from a bicycle; in another, several boys start fighting on the baseball diamond; and in a third episode, another group of youngsters are shown throwing grass through an open window into a room where a ladies group is meeting.

"We appreciate the cooperation of Mr. Vokac and the youngsters in acting these parts for the sake of the movie," Wesley stated.

Herb Newcomb, ABC radio actor, was the central figure being "shot" Tuesday afternoon. As the reporter in the movie who follows the activities of the park system without and later with adequate adult guidance, Newcomb has been filmed walking along Recreation park and nearby streets seeking a solution to the recreation-park problem.

In a few days, the shooting crew will go indoors for several scenes. Arrangements are being made now with LeRoy Knoepfel, high school principal, to do some filming in the high school.

The movie is being made by the Athletic Institute, non-profit organization, and the filming is being done by Dallas Jones productions, Chicago. Arlington was selected by the institute as a model town in regard to "recreation" facilities for youngsters.

The filming here is being sponsored by Arlington Heights grade and high school boards of education and Arlington Heights park board.

Police radio service between Palatine and Arlington Heights scored again late Sunday night when an auto accident occurred on the highway south of Palatine road. Answering the radio call for help, Arlington officers Karstens and Bauer directed southbound traffic over Palatine road while the accident was being cleared up.

Two women were injured and taken to Palatine hospital. Miss Gertrude Bartsch, 18, Clyde ave., Palatine, who suffered from shock, bruises and lacerations requiring four stitches, was released from the hospital the following day. The other woman, Mrs. St. John, who had hit the windshield, sustained more severe injuries, but was able to return to her home Tuesday evening at 6151 W. Cornelia ave., Chicago.

Miss Bartsch was making a left hand turn from Larry's service station. Because of a mechanical defect, she was unable to straighten the car out, which continued to turn left, reentering the southbound lane, where it collided with a car being driven by S. E. St. John.

Attend Midwest American Farm Bureau conference

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mills have just returned from St. Paul, Minn., where they attended the Midwest Conference of the American Farm Bureau.

The conference consisted of luncheons, dinners, and talks on legislative matter of national and world importance. Alan Cline, president of the American Farm Bureau, talked on European conditions and told how the Farm Bureau could take part in helping to rebuild war devastated countries.

As part of the conference, which was attended by 1,000 people and held at the Lowry hotel, the delegates were taken on a tour of Minneapolis.

Enroute home Mr. and Mrs. Mills stopped at the Wisconsin Dells and enjoyed a day of sight seeing.

Alvin Skibbe is new midwest director of book manufacturing firm

Alvin R. Skibbe, 437 Beverly Lane, Arlington Heights, has been appointed sales manager of the midwest division of Broom and Pease, national manufacturer of bound books and loose leaf forms. He was formerly vice-president in charge of sales for Hordors, Inc.

Charles Malloydy, of Palatine, who succeeded Mr. Skibbe at Hordors, has also left the firm, as of June 30.

Plan deluxe motel of 23 units at Arlington Heights

A motel design, prepared by Jos. S. Giese with building application, accompanied by a check for necessary permits were presented by Thos. J. Boyer to the Arlington Heights village board Monday evening.

THE APPLICATION was made without final building plans to secure the reaction of the municipality to the establishment of a deluxe motorcourt on the North-west highway, in the wooded area east of the skating rink now under construction.

The cost of the project is tentatively set at $75,000. Construction would be of brick with car ports in the rear. Each unit will comprise a sleeping room, and a kitchenette. Furnishings are to be specially designed.

The 23 units will be divided between six structures. The village board took no action. The location is within the business zone.

Arlington farmer victim of the jinx

If you do not believe in a jinx read what happened to Nick Herff. It was a lucky jinx the first time he crossed Rand road; not so lucky the second time he tried it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nilles, 6230 Kedvale ave., Chicago, escaped with minor bruises and shock Tuesday morning when Mr. Nilles lost control of his car at the intersection of Rand and Arlington Heights roads.

He was successful in avoiding a collision with a second car, but presence of stone on the outside lane caused his car to leave the road.

The Nilles car hurdled a 6 ft. ditch and would probably have turned turtle, further injuring the occupants, but a guy wire supporting a high tension electric line, acted as a cushion and stopped the auto before it overturned into a second ditch.

Nick Herff, a farmer residing on Arlington Heights road, was traveling south and had stopped at the intersection to allow a north bound car to pass. As he started across Rand road he heard the horn and screech of brakes and stopped his car in the center of the highway. Nilles, to avoid hitting the Nerf car, turned to the right lane.

Again he got in the center of the road when an approaching car caused him to again stop. This time the other car, a cab, did not miss him.

High school board announces date for budget hearing

A public hearing by Arlington Heights township high school board of education will be held August 9 to consider a budget and appropriation ordinance for the school fiscal year starting July 1.

The hearing will be held at 8 p. m. at the high school, and interested persons are asked to attend. An official notice of the hearing appears in this week's paper.

At a special board meeting July 1, Arlington Heights board of education employed three persons for the coming school year.

Mrs. Irene Overman Kreer will be the new speech corrector for the 1948-49 year. Mrs. Kreer is from Glenview, and has a B. A. degree in speech from Northwestern university.

John Schaff will be the driver training and science instructor starting this September. He has a master of science degree from Northwestern university, and was principal at Plato Center high school, Plato, Ill., last year.

The board of education also employed Mrs. Ed Wahl, of Arlington Heights, as the new matron at the high school starting with the September term.

Grade school district 25, Arlington Heights, will hold a public hearing for a tentative budget and appropriation ordinance for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1948.

The hearing will be at South school August 10, at 8 p. m., and the public will have opportunity to voice opinions on the budget and appropriation ordinance.

Mayor praises citizens for sane holiday observance

"The citizens of Arlington Heights are to be complimented for their splendid cooperation in helping observe a safe and sane Fourth of July," Mayor Goedke commented to Paddock Publications on Tuesday.

"There were no serious accidents due to fireworks this year and no complaints were received by police in connection with shooting of fireworks," the mayor added.

C. & N. W. asks another fare increase

The North Western railroad has petitioned the Illinois Commerce commission for another 10 per cent fare increase in its commuter rates.

Several months ago, the North Western, along with a dozen other suburban lines, was granted a 20 per cent fare hike. In oral arguments before the Commission, North Western Attorney Nye F. Morehouse said that the 20 per cent takes care of only increased costs and that annual losses on the suburban lines still run at about two million dollars.

The Commission indicated that there will probably be a ruling on the petition by July 15.

Unsolved mystery at Arlington police station

Sometime between Friday night and Saturday afternoon a quantity of fireworks locked into a cell in the Arlington Heights police station disappeared.

There is not a police officer or village employee who knows how it happened.

The fireworks were taken from J. E. Henley, who recently purchased a lot at the corner of Northwest highway and Wilke road for display of prefab homes. It was on complaint of the father of a ten-year-old Barrington boy that Judge Behrens issued a state warrant charging John Doe with unlawful sale of fireworks.

The judge called in a local police officer to make the arrest, who found when he arrived on the scene that the sale occurred east of Wilke road and inside the village limits.

Henley was taken into custody and his stock of fireworks locked up for the night. The next day the complainant refused to prosecute or appear in court, which voided the state warrant.

The only charge that could still apply under village ordinances was the illegal storage of fireworks, and on that charge Henley was fined $25 and cost.

The village ordinance does not provide for confiscation of fireworks and Judge Behrens ordered the return of the goods taken from Henley.

When the judge discovered that a substantial quantity of the fireworks, rockets, pinwheels, etc., had disappeared, he returned the $30 to Henley and entered on the docket, "fine paid in fireworks that mysteriously disappeared."

June building permits exceed May total by $175,025

New building permits issued for construction in Mt. Prospect reached a peak in June with a total of $245,765.

This figure covers 19 houses, 2 porches, 8 garages, and 2 additions.

Eight new homes are located on Wapella avenue, at numbers 209, 211, 215, 217, 220, 222 and 300. Others are located at 511 Hillusi, 204 S. Edward, 600 W. Gowanda, 310 and 312 S. Pine, 317 and 319 N. Wille, 322 N. Emerson, 520 S. Edward, 420 N. Pine, and 319 S. Elmhurst.

The May total was only $70,740, including five new homes. These are being built at 214 and 368 N. Russell, 101 W. Milburn, 10 S. Owen, and 912 S. Ioka.

Plan for array exhibits at 4-H fair

Extra tent space is being secured for the 4-H club festival scheduled at Recreation Park Arlington Heights, Friday and Saturday, August 27-28. This year poultry can be shown, and there will be extra livestock besides.

"We have in mind to make the 4-H club festival as acceptable as possible for boys and girls who have raised their calves and made dresses," said Henry L. Moehling, who is a member of the arrangements committee.

UNUSUAL displays are planned by some of the exhibitors who were at the festival last year. A model farm work shop will be placed at the end of the large merchant's exhibit tent. Space is now being allocated to exhibitors. It is expected that there will be a much larger display of farm machinery than a year ago.

This 4-H festival is made possible by the merchants and farmers of north Cook county. Admission is free to the public. No chance games will be allowed. Evening programs are being planned for the entertainment of visitors. An estimated two thousand people attended the show last year, and this year a larger attendance is looked for.

Firemen, VFW hold annual festival July 21-25

Arlington Heights VFW post 981 and Arlington Heights firemen will sponsor a second annual celebration in Recreation park from Wednesday, July 21, through Sunday, July 25.

Stars of radio and stage will perform each of the five nights. Major attractions are a 1949 Ford sedan, a G. E. 8 cu. ft. refrigerator and a Whizzer motor bike.

Village dads give 6 reasons why they oppose trailer camp

One result of the recent trailer town trouble in Arlington Heights has been a formal protest to a proposed trailer site by the village board to Cook County board of commissioners, the county clerk, and the zoning board of appeals.

The resolution, prepared by Village Attorney Hugo Thal, was approved at the board meeting Tuesday, July 6, and concerns approximately 23 acres on the east side of Wilke road, 300 feet north of Kirchhoff road, which petitioner requests be rezoned for business I and thus available for a trailer camp.

THE BOARD gives these reasons for opposing the trailer establishment:

(a) That said premises lie within less than 2680 feet of the southwestern limits of the village, which portion of the village is zoned for single family residential purposes;

(b) That said premises are low and have no sewer or other sanitary drainage facilities, and are so situated that they cannot obtain sanitary sewer facilities;

(c) That during rainstorms portions thereof become flooded, not having even adequate facilities for surface drainage;

(d) That the elevation of said premises and the soil texture thereof is such that septic tank systems will not adequately take care of sanitary sewer requirements; and

(e) That said premises are so situated that even the kitchen waste be disposed of; and

WHEREAS the school facilities of the schools in the Village of Arlington Heights, which schools the children from said territory would have to attend, are inadequate to accommodate the additional number of children coming from said territory that would have to attend such schools; and

WHEREAS various public and private organizations and many owners of property within the village have joined in the protest against such rezoning and have requested the President and Board of Trustees of this village that their rights and interests also be protected in so far as this village has power and authority to interest itself on behalf of such owners and organizations; now, therefore,

Cook County appeals ruling invalidating 59 percent increase on 1946 assessor's figures

Cook county will file notice of appeal before the deadline this week from the ruling of Federal Judge Michael L. Igoo on June 7 invalidating $1,026,355 in 1946 personal property taxes against the former receivers of the Chicago Surface Lines, Assistant State's Attorney Melvin Winder-sky, in charge of civil appeals, said Friday.

Judge Igoo ruled that the disputed tax, representing the 59 per cent increase in assessments by the state revenue board under the state-wide equalization law, was invalid because the revenue board studied only sample sales of real estate in arriving at the figure. This is the first time a court has passed on the validity of the equalization law, which became effective on 1946 taxes.

WINDERSKY said the decision is "fraught with possibilities for Cook county if applied to other taxpayers, in addition to represent a million dollar loss on the taxes extended and spent."

He will also ask Judge Igoo this week to modify a supplemental finding entered Thursday without notice to the state's attorney which is "much too broad," Winder-sky said.

Among these findings are the following:

"That neither the debtors nor any of the affected thousands of taxpayers in Cook county whose assessments were equalized received any due notice of hearing as to the 1.59 factor."

"THAT THE revenue board failed to take into account revisions made by the board of tax appeals as required by the Revenue act" (The tax appeals board had adjourned as to personal property when the 1.59 factor was announced on Jan. 29, 1947.)

"That it is also void in that the board considered only a nominal number of real estate transfers in Cook county in comparison with the total number."

State revenue board increased 1947 valuations by 29% against which 77,000 persons in Cook county have filed objections. Attorneys consulted by Paddock Publications regarding what effect the Igoo decision, if upheld, would have on local taxing bodies, were unwilling to voice an opinion, except to say that it is a dangerous situation.

New device records phone eavesdropping

If you ever hear a brief, high, almost musical note on your telephone line while you are talking—a sort of gentle "beep" repeated every 15 seconds or so—you will know that the person to whom you are talking has a recording machine which is making a record of your conversation.

That announcement was made today by W. C. Lathen, manager here for the Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

The company will shortly apply to the Illinois Commerce Commission for authorization to install warning devices at the subscribers' premises wherever recording machines are known to be used on telephone conversations, according to Lathen. The warning signal is provided by the telephone company for its customers' protection in known cases.

The telephone company will not manufacture the recording devices. It will install and maintain only the automatic tone warning device, for which there will be a monthly charge to the user.

The Federal Communications Commission has authorized the use of recording devices connected to a subscriber's telephone provided the company is notified by the user so that the warning signal may become part of the connection. When the machine is connected, the sound goes over the line automatically every 12 to 18 seconds.

"If you don't want a record made of a conversation," Lathen said, "ask the person with whom you are talking to disconnect the recording machine."

After August 2, it will be unlawful for anyone to use a recording machine with a telephone without using the equipment which sends the "beep" signal over the line.

SEEING is BELIEVING

When you stop your car on our Brake Tester and actually see how your brakes behave, you know without anyone telling you, whether they need attention or not.

Our Brake Tester is like four horizontal scales—each one telling just how much braking energy is applied to its wheel. When we adjust, reline or overhaul your brakes, they are tested and proven on this same Tester, so you know exactly how they will act on the road.

Car owners who have used our brake service are enthusiastic in saying they can feel the difference. It's a mighty sweet sensation, too, to know you can depend on your brakes—any time, under any conditions. Why not bring your brake work to us, and experience it?

Jean Iris Thompson
bride of R. M. Reed

The Wesley Foundation, Urbana, was the scene June 19 of the wedding of Miss Jean Iris Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Urbana, and Robert M. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Reed of Arlington Heights. Rev. Paul Burt united the couple in a double ring service which was witnessed by 250 guests. Palms and candelabra banked the altar for the occasion.

Before the entry of the bridal party Robert Neill, organist, accompanied his sister, Verdeen Neill, who played violin solos, and Mrs. Donald Kruse, who sang "O Promise Me" and "At Dawning."

Dwight Hubbard, of Washington, D. C., escorted his niece to the altar and gave her in marriage. Miss Thompson was gown in white satin, fashioned with an embroidered net yoke, and a peplum of embroidered net that fell ended in a train. The long sleeves were of net as was the lace edged veil, that was fastened to a headpiece of net and satin bows. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, that was centered with a white orchid.

Maid of honor for the bride was Miss Barbara Dearing, with Mrs. Dale Harshbarger, Miss Norma Tedford, and Mary Lois Hubbard, a cousin, acting as bridesmaids.

Miss Dearing wore a gown of yellow eyelet embroidery, styled with round neckline, cap sleeves, and bouffant skirt. Her colonial bouquet was of lavender and white gladioli mixed with sweetpeas. The bridesmaids were dressed in aqua eyelet dresses, having square necklines, tiny puffed sleeves and full gathered skirts. They carried colonial bouquets of lavender and white gladioli mixed with sweetpeas.

Jack Moodie of Arlington Heights, a close friend of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Bill Armon, Russell Hay, Robert Trobaugh and Edgar Prottzman.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Thompson wore a white lace jacket topped a white linen skirt. A blue flowered hat matched her other accessories and she wore a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a sheer aqua dress, had white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests were received in Watseka hall, which was decorated with garden flowers for the occasion. An arrangement of white sweetheart roses centered the bridal table.

The bridal dinner preceding the rehearsal was held Friday evening at the Woman's City Club of Champaign. Before the ceremony Saturday relatives from the Chicago area enjoyed a delicious luncheon in the dining room of Wesley Foundation.

It was served by the ladies of Trinity Methodist church, Urbana.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed are now at home at 307 S. Vine street, Urbana. The bride will continue to work part time for the U. of I. Health Service. She is a June graduate in Home Economics at the University of Illinois. During her senior year she served as president of Alceus, an organization for independent women.

The bridegroom is working toward his master's degree in agronomy and is a research assistant at the University of Illinois, from where he received his bachelor's degree in February 1947. He is a member of Gamma Alpha, a graduate social fraternity; Alpha Zeta, an agriculture honorary; and Sigma Xi, a scientific honorary.

SHEER TRAVEL MAGIC

THIS is the Buick America's car buyers are buzzing about. This is the one with travel magic flowing all through it.

This is the ROADMASTER with Dynaflo Drive*—where Main Street's dense traffic, the inviting open road and the long, stretching hills are bossed with equal ease by a toe-touch.

What's Different About
DYNAFLO DRIVE*?

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-boosting action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

Here you let your left foot idle comfortably wherever you wish—there's no clutch pedal to push, ever.

Here your mind's free completely of remembering when to shift—no gears ever shift anywhere in the car.

Here, you glide over ground and grades in swift and utter smoothness as constant and unbroken as Niagara's flow.

For here you have the only passenger car in America where liquid replaces both the usual clutch and the low-second-high gear sequence of conventional transmissions.

When better
automobiles are built
BUICK
will build them

Here you sit in blissful ease while the power plant itself meets and masters the thousand and one situations that come up in travel.

Gentle grades, steep hills, long straightaways, stop streets—once your lever's set, you simply step on the gas—and take them all in liquid-smooth luxury!

Does all this sound fabulous? It is.

So fabulous that folks are signing up in droves for the '48 fashion plate with this new-wonder drive.

So to take command of this traveler-touched-with-magic, come see us quickly and get your order in.

We'll take it in sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.

BUICK alone has all these features

- * DYNAFLO DRIVE (Optional, Roadmaster Series)
- * TAPER-THRU STYLING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * FLEX-FIT OIL RINGS * HI-POISED FIREBALL POWER

Nancy Jane Bredfeldt, art teacher, marries

A pretty home wedding performed by Rev. Ira Stevens of Mount Prospect, united in matrimony Miss Nancy Jane Bredfeldt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bredfeldt, Golf road, Des Plaines, and Ernest Cherrington Martt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Martt of Zanesville, Ohio. The ceremony took place June 26 at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with silver candelabra and greens on the fireplace and low mixed bouquets of white flowers in the living and dining rooms.

During the service Mrs. Jean Cameron Secker played several appropriate selections on the piano. Miss Bredfeldt, given in marriage by her father, chose to wear a ballerina length dress of white waffle pique that was fashioned with Dutch collar, lace yoke, and full skirt. She wore white roses in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, centered with yellow stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Mary Lee Bredfeldt, was maid of honor. She was gowned identical to the bride in a yellow waffle pique dress. Yellow roses made up her headpiece and her colonial bouquet was of yellow roses and white stephanotis.

Robert Thurston, of Washington, D. C., attended the bridegroom as best man. Only immediate relatives of both families attended the wedding ceremony.

At 4:00 p. m. a reception for 150 guests was held at the bride's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Martt enjoyed a short honeymoon at the Moraine on the Lake hotel, Highland Park, and are now at home at 7410 Linwood avenue, Cleveland 3, Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of the Art Institute, class of 1946. In her senior year she was president of the Art Student's League. The past two years she has been teaching art at Sterling Morton high school, Cicero. Miss Bredfeldt is also a graduate of Arlington Heights high school.

Mr. Martt graduated from the Illinois Institute of Technology. He is now employed with General Electric, Cleveland, where he works in lighting research. While in the Navy he held the rank of Ensign.

J. Holding, Arlington Hts., weds Chicagoan

Miss Robbins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Robbins, Chicago, and Mr. Holding is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Holding of Arlington Heights.

The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Harold Linger. Miss Dorothy May Holding sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because" during the ceremony, accompanied at the organ by Miss Pauline Osterling.

A gown of traditional white satin, having a three foot train, and set off with a three quarter length veil of net and lace, made up the bride's attire. She carried a bridal bouquet of red roses, centered with a removable corsage of white carnations. Mr. Robbins gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Kathleen Steel of Chicago. She was dressed in a gown of yellow net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow tulle roses.

Best man for the bridegroom was Robert Holman of Wheeling, with Dave Overton, Arlington Heights, and Donald Payne, Prospect Heights, serving as ushers.

Two hundred guests attended the reception which was held at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Holding honeymooned at Bloomer, Wisconsin.

Thirty-five help Don Robertson celebrate

Genial, jovial and hard working Don Robertson celebrated his untimely birthday anniversary amidst a gathering of close friends and relatives Sunday, July 4.

The anniversary party was held in Robertson's lovely formal gardens with tables decorated with roses. There was a huge birthday cake and some 35 guests to share it with "pappy" as Dan is affectionately known among his close friends and family.

It was a real party for "pappy", one of those affairs that is dear to one's heart. Mrs. Robertson had provided a heavily laden Smorgasbord because Robertson has often glorified its wonders for the benefit of the uninitiated. He described it once at a P.H.I.A. meeting as an ideal method of eating. "You take it standing up because you can eat more in an erect attitude, and the exercises of the many reachings for delicious dainties seem to give the appetite more activity."

Robertson cut his own birthday cake and served. Those helping him celebrate included: his son, D. C. Robertson, Jr., and children, Bobbie and little Daniel VII; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oppen, of Elmwood Park, and Prospect Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lietzow and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Niemann, of Chicago. The Niemanns were house guests of the Robertsons for the week end.

Bride elect

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Knaus of Wood Dale, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Louis G. Klages, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Klages of Arlington Heights. No date has been set for the wedding.

English teacher in a Havana high school, was the first woman high school teacher in Cuba. She will be in Mt. Prospect for the remainder of the summer and is looking forward to her visit as this is her first trip to the Middle East.

Paula Fiene says 'I do' to Peter A. Nelson

The wedding of Miss Paula L. Fiene and Peter A. Nelson was solemnized June 19 at the Mount Prospect St. Paul Ev. Lutheran church. The couple repeated their marriage vows after Rev. J. E. A. Mueller, who performed the nuptial ceremony. White snapdragons and carnations decorated the church.

Miss Fiene, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Fiene, Rand road, Des Plaines was given in marriage by her father. Her bridal gown was of white marquisette, fashioned with beaded brocade yoke, long pointed sleeves and full skirt ending in a long train. Two nationally important sports events are coming up in the next few days. We refer to the All Star Baseball Game in St. Louis next Tuesday and the United States Final Olympic Tests at Dyche Stadium in Evanston Friday night and Saturday afternoon of this week. The picking of the U. S. Olympic team this week-end will be in two sessions, one on Friday night at 6:00 in a twilight meet and the other on Saturday afternoon at 2:00 p. m.

Best three in each event

at Olympic team berths

The recent National A. A. U. meet at Marquette University and the National Collegiate meet at Minneapolis were semi-final qualifying meets. The best 12 competitors in the nation in each event will compete this week at Evanston. The first three in each event will compete on the U. S. team in the Olympic games in London later this summer.

Great negro college stars cannot compete on U. S. team

Two of the best runners in this country will not be on the U. S. Olympic team. Herb McKenley who broke the world's 440 yard dash record while competing for the University of Illinois a year ago and who recently has broken the world's mark in the 440 meters, is a citizen of Jamaica. Lloyd LaBeach, who is a record breaker in the 200 meters and who competed at the University of Wisconsin and UCLA will represent Panama in the Olympic games. Both are colored boys as are the majority of the better boys in big time track today.

This year the National Collegiate track meet was run with Olympic events and Olympic distances. This is the reason that the University of Minnesota pulled and upset won. Half of their points were made in events peculiar to the Olympic program and not to American track meets.

Walker of Illinois makes good in 400 meter hurdles

One of the events not run except in Olympic years is the 400 meter low hurdles. Never having run them in competition before the National meet it was a surprise to many that Walker, Illinois rangy colored hurdler, made such a fine winning time, better than the National collegiate record. Walker is a good but not great hurdler but he was a good 440 man on Illinois great relay teams of recent years. Roy Cochran, former great distance hurdler and 440 runner at Indiana before the war is expected to be the man Walker must beat to win the Olympic trials.

110 meter hurdles one of strongest events

There being no Olympic event in low hurdles at the usual 220 yard American distance, great low hurdles like Dillard of Baldwin Wallace and Porter of Northwestern will concentrate on the 110 meter high hurdles. Clyde Scott of Arkansas won this event in the National Collegiate in 1937 tying the accepted world record. Dillard did not compete in this meet but was beaten by Porter in the A. A. U. after some 80 consecutive wins. Dillard is a real threat in the 100 meter dash. He is a colored boy as is Barney Ewell who nosed him out at the Marquette meet. Patton of Southern California may whip them both and also win the 200 meter event.

Will Dadds to compete in 1500 meter run

Gil Dadds, American mile record holder, is the leading contender in the 1500 meter event. He had a tough time beating Sink of Los Angeles in the A. A. U. games but both Gehrmann of Wisconsin and Barten of Michigan beat Sink in the N. C. A. A. meet. Barten, by the way, is a former Illinois high school high school state winner while running for Schurz High of Chicago. Barten won the A. A. U. and N. C. A. A. 800 meters and looks like a possible Olympic winner at this distance.

Fonville and Gordien seem cinch for Olympic titles

Two of the United States best events will be the shot and discus. Charles Fonville of Michigan in the shot and Fortune Gordien of Minnesota in the discus are world record holders in their events and pretty certain to be Olympic winners.

May see world records in Olympic finals

Anyone who invests $5.00 in a ticket to the Olympic final trials at Evanston Friday and Saturday gets a chance to see both exhibitions at the single price and will see the best track and field talent in the world today. U. S. has the cream of the world in the track events and is expected to win this part of the Olympics easily. With such a galaxy of stars competing for berths on the Olympic team there is a good chance that new world records will be made or tied Friday and Saturday if weather conditions are favorable.

Arlington and Palatine youths compete in national junior open

by MARVIN PRELLBERG
Dick Larson, of LaSalle, and Jim Pollock, of Westerville, Ohio, were both happy and surprised last Thursday when they played one, two out of a field of over 100 young golfers under 18 years of age, who tried their skill on the Jackson Park links in the third annual Hearst National Junior Open Golf tournament.

By placing first and second both boys qualified to go to the Hearst finals on August 17-20 and play on the famed Charles River Country Club in Newton, Massachusetts. Larson won the medalist honors with a 36 hole total of 148 over the 5,336 yard course. After carding a 75 the first day, he followed up with a 73 on Thursday to nose out Pollock by 2 strokes, as Jim notched a pair of 75's.

Among these golfers were several prominent local boys. Tom Stockdale, who has a year of golf left at Arlington High, did right well as a representative of Heights by carding a 79 and a 76 for a 155 total. Ralph Becker, also an Arlington High golfer, totaled 164 on an 85 and a 79. Ronald Prellberg who is going to be a sophomore, totaled 166 on an 87 and a 79. Harold Klapp represented Palatine in the tournament with a pair of 83's for a 166 total.

Prospect Heights plans activities for youngsters

Softball teams for two age groups: 9-12, 12-15 is first project

by LEW GREEN

Prospect Heights is organizing a new athletic association for the benefit of the younger set. It is designed primarily to promote and manage organized activities for youth of Prospect Heights and surrounding area.

The true measure of sportsmanship lies in the ability to be not only a modest winner, but a graceful loser as well. This, and the spirit of fair play, is the heritage of every American boy, the development of which is the first objective of the association.

FIRST PROJECT of the A. A. is formation of softball teams which will be chosen from two age groups, 9 to 12 years, and 12 to 15 years. Regularly scheduled games will be played, and teams from the nearby towns will be invited to Prospect Hts. for games.

Coaching will be under the direction of Art Raven, long a favorite of youth of Prospect Heights, who will be assisted by Carl Olsen.

Over-all program of activities goes further than just athletics. A camera club, model building club and other interesting group activities are being planned. Lev Fonseca has promised to send his famous film of the 1947 World Series, and the film on hitting or pitching to the A. A. and these will be shown in the near future.

TRIPS to big league ball games and pro football games have already been arranged. Plans have also been made for a Junior Golf league, in which the younger set can participate in regularly scheduled matches. Group lessons will be a part of this league program.

SMITH and Dawson have designated the southeast corner of McDonald road and Elmhurst road as the A. A. athletic field. The field will be booked by a group for a certain period, and they may use it, without interference during that time. Tennis courts, basketball back boards, and handball courts are in the plans and the booking of these will be handled in the same manner.

Inverness announces winners in 36 hole handicap tournament

Roy LaLonde, Paul Manning and Carl Scharninghausen were among the winners in the 36-hole handicap tournament at Inverness Country club over the holiday week-end. All three Palatine men came in with scores well below their usual ratings to top fine prizes.

In Class "A" the gross winner was Jim Fairbairn with 72-76-148, while Don Hager was low net with 79-80-159, less 14 handicap for 145. In the B class H. C. Kelsall scored 84-81-165 for low gross while Roy L. LaLonde, Palatine real estate man, had low net with 84-85-169, less 30 handicap for 139.

In class "C" Paul Manning won low gross. Manning shot a 46 on Sunday but playing in the same foursome with Roy LaLonde on Monday carded an 85 for a two day total of 133. Carl Scharninghausen, retiring Lions club president, who has a 26 handicap, took advantage of it to win low net as he scored 97-96-193. Subtracting 52, his net brought him in on top in "C" class.

An 18-hole tournament for those not choosing to go the 36 hole route, found Bernie Lauf-fenberger taking low gross in class "A" with 76 while J. Courtney with 77-67-144 and F. Atkinson 82-11-71 tied for low net. "Bunny" Rich took class "B" low gross with an 82 and G. Kiehlhofer had low net with 82-13-69. J. Spotswood took class "C" gross with a 94 while G. Manning's score of 95-25-70 brought him low net.

Arlington Junior Legion nine wins 2, loses 1; moves into 2nd place

After losing their first encounter of the first round of the suburban division of the American Legion, Arlington Heights suffered a second loss but bounced back into 2nd place by virtue of two victories the past week. Barrington 2, Arlington 1

After losing a close 2 to 1 decision to Barrington last Thursday, the Arlington Junior American Legion baseball team came back strong over the weekend with two impressive victories against Melrose Park.

Ray Huffman was on the mound against Barrington in a twilight contest played at Barrington. Huffman pitched fine ball going all the way, allowing 4 hits and striking out 7. The opposing pitcher was George Schwartz of Elmhurst high school no-hit fame. He was credited with 9 strikeouts while allowing 3 hits including a home run by Don Koelper, Arlington first baseman, scoring the lone Arlington run in the 6th inning. This was the second straight game the local nine had lost by the same 2 to 1 margin.

Arlington 17, Melrose Park 2
Arlington travelled to Melrose Park Saturday afternoon, July 3, and took their hitting tools with them, smashing out a 17 to 2 win. Coach Bob Campbell sent Chuck Fischer on the mound for Arlington and he was tagged for only four hits. Four Melrose Park pitchers were clouted for 10 hits including extra-base blows by Koelper, Jim Schwartz, Paul Krause and Orv Schaeffer. Fischer was credited with ten strikeouts.

Arlington 1, Melrose Park 0
The local Legion nine made it two straight over Melrose Park with a 1 to 0 win at Recreation Park Sunday afternoon preceding the Redwings game. The local team is sponsored by George C. Poole, Inc. Arlington Heights Ford dealer. They are representing the Merle Guild Post 208 of the American Legion. Playing as an added feature of the American Legion Festival, the win helped to make it a big day for the local American Legion Post.

Charlie Johnson did all the hurling for Arlington and was credited with the win. Gohr was the losing pitcher and likewise went all the way. The game was a 0 to 0 tie going into the last half of the sixth inning. Chuck Fischer who was running for Harry Griffith, slid home with the winning run on Krause's long sacrifice fly. Griffith reached first with the first Arlington hit, and reached third on a stolen base and an error.

Stats for Arlington: 1 run, 2 hits and 0 errors. Melrose Park: 0 runs, 3 hits and 1 error.

Arlington Heights is one of four teams playing the suburban division of the Ninth District. The two division winners will be determined by the middle of July and will meet each other for the District championship. Arlington Heights is the defending champion, having won the trophy for the past two years.

Five acceptances have been received for the third renewal of the $10,000 Chicago Pacing Derby.

July 9, at Maywood Park. Heading the list of five who will participate in the rich harness stake is Dr. Stanton, Lind-Fraser's Cinderella horse who turned in the fastest mile of the year at Santa Anita—2:00 1/5.

Dr. Stanton's top rival, Indian Land has also entered the Derby. In Santa Anita's $50,000 Golden West Pace, Indian Land defeated Dr. Stanton, after the latter had traveled half the track in a false start, only to be called back to start again.

Two of Maywood Park's stellar performers this spring, both track record breakers, will also be in the Derby field. The one is Perry Williams' trim speedster, Brucita's Guy, who with Driver Tommy Winn, has produced a lethal one-two punch in Maywood features. On June 11, Winn reined his fleet charge to a new mile record, 2:04 4/5.

The other is Royal Man, owned and driven by Eddie Cobb, currently the leading reinsman at the west side oval.

A week of new stars at Grant Park concerts

Erich Leinsdorf, noted opera and symphony conductor, will take over the leadership of the Grant Park Symphony Orchestra during the fourth week of "Music Under the Stars" for a series of four concerts, July 14, 16, 17 and 18. This will be his first appearance on Chicago's lake front.

He is conductor of the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, was formerly conductor of the Cleveland Symphony, and is known to Chicago opera-goers as conductor with the Chicago Opera Company. Outstanding classical masterpieces will be featured on his programs at Grant Park.

Saturday's novelty program will be the presentation of Mendelssohn's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by a woman's chorus of forty voices, all members of the Chicago Park District Opera Guild who were starred at Grant Park on July 3rd in the comic opera, "The Bartered Bride."

Cardinals win streak broken at 5 games

After defeating Pape and Guenther at Arlington Heights, 9-6, Thursday, with Chuck Hull again on the mound, the Wheeling Cardinals traveled to Libertyville on the fourth and were downed 4-1 by Wadsworth.

Tragedy stalked both games. A Pape and Guenther player, Bill Nimmern, was seriously spiked in the head when he slid across the plate for the teams fourth run of the game in the third inning. Play was held up for 20 minutes until a doctor was rushed to the scene.

Pete Matteoni, at bat for Wheeling, and the Wadsworth pitcher failed to hear time out called by the umpire in the last inning of the game at Libertyville. Matteoni swung at the pitch just when the catcher had heard the umpire's signal, stepped into the plate. He was struck in the elbow but was not seriously injured.

The Wheeling Cardinals will be at Arlington Heights Friday evening of this week to play the Turf Billiards, and again Tuesday, July 13, when they are slated to meet El Rando. Wednesday, July 14, they will take the mound against their old rivals, Diamond Lake, at Libertyville. All three games are scheduled for 7 o'clock p. m.

Announce home schedule of Rockets

The new Chicago Rockets, totally reorganized in ownership and coaching staff and bolstered by more than 30 new players, will play seven All-America Football Conference games in Soldier Field next fall.

In announcing their schedule this week, the Rockets also opened the sale of season tickets, offering seven games for the price of six, at the club offices, 28 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago.

The home schedule: August 27 (night) — Los Angeles Dons; Sept. 10 (night) — Baltimore Colts; Sept. 17 (night) Cleveland Browns; Oct. 1 (night) — San Francisco 49ers; Oct. 24 (afternoon) — Brooklyn Dodgers; Oct. 31 (afternoon) — New York Yankees; Nov. 25 (11 a. m. Thanksgiving Day) — Buffalo Bills.

Reserve admission, which includes a seat in the stands, is $1.20. General admission tickets are 50 cents.

No celebrating for Redwings over 4th; lose three games

Arlington Redwings' youth movement, which had been progressing favorably, collapsed over last week end as the local club lost three games, two of which were league contests.

The two league defeats at the hands of Woodstock, 4-2, and Waukegan, 7-6, were caused by the generosity of several Redwings who became lax in their defensive play. Woodstock scored their four runs in one inning, aided by errors and Waukegan enjoyed a six run inning which assured them victory.

IN BOTH contests the local boys had late inning rallies under way, but did not have the hitting punch to carry through.

On Monday the Midwest League club, Flecks Republicans, also rode to victory on a combination of timely hitting after defensive miscues had established runners on the base paths.

Next Sunday Elgin will play here in a league contest. Jack Brumm will pitch. The outfield personnel will also be rearranged with George Gaare, right field; Bill Stahlman, left field.

Elgin's fortunes have not been anything to cheer about, either and this game should be the turning point for the victor.

Friday evening the Redwings will play a twilight game in Berwyn with the Bendas of the Greater Chicago Semipro league.

BECAUSE results of the Northeast Illinois games played Sunday were not available, the league standings could not be established.

Games July 11: Elgin at Arlington. Waukegan at North Chicago. Oak Park at Woodstock.

Dick Dieball's 31 took low net honors for the evening, while L. Arnold and K. Fuhr took low gross with 37.

The standings after 10 nights of play are:

Arlington third in games won

Niles and Crystal Lake took the limelight in basketball circles during the nine year existence of the Northeast conference, it was learned this week. Summary of final standings was made by Paddock Publications in cooperation with Arlington Heights high school's athletic director, Wally Grace.

Niles copped four major championships in the winter sport, and finished second three times. A third in '46 and a fourth in '47 were the worst years for the Trojans.

ARLINGTON, though winning but once, had the best record the past three years by virtue of two seconds and a first. Other seasons, the Cardinals finished all the way from third to seventh in the standings.

Just three championship squads were undefeated in the history of the league, so far as conference play was concerned.

Crystal Lake in 1940 and '47 won its only championship of the nine year span in any sport by copping basketball in 1941. The Streaks started a one season just past, but hit a losing streak the middle of conference play and couldn't revive.

TWO WAR years caused abandonment of official league schedules the 1942 and '43 seasons, but comparative records determined league winners to the satisfaction of most.

Libertyville won their only trophy in the sport the first year with a 5-1 conference record. Niles assumed the league lead the following season, also on comparative records.

Here again superior size showed small Warren with plenty of defeats. The Blue Devils did, however, win 18 games in six of the years. They lost 25 in a row the past two seasons.

In games won, Arlington ranks third with 53 against 38 losses.

Over 70,000 object to value placed on property

Lowest value on old building is 20% of replacement value

About four times as many taxpayers objected this year to the tax rate as did last year. William Devine and Eli Golan, members of the Cook county Board of Tax Appeals, revealed Tuesday.

As the five o'clock July 1 deadline came there were more than 77,000 objections filed with the board. It is estimated that hearings on the objections will continue through the fall to about Christmas time.

THE GREAT increase in objections was attributed to 1947 taxes being the beginning of a new quadrennial based on new evaluations of properties. The assessments this year will continue to be used as a base for the next four years.

OBJECTIONS all are mainly based on what the tax payer believes to be an over-evaluation of his property. All objections are heard by examiners who determine what the facts of the case are and adjustments are made.

Board member Eli Golan who with Devine was elected to the job in November of 1946, pointed out that with the large number of tax payers in Chicago, and Cook county, it is understandable that there will be errors in tax bills. Most of these can be corrected by the board.

OWNER of a vacant lot in some cases, is taxed for improvements, as a building, on the lot. Similarly the owner of a building may get no bill for several years through a clerical error. However, he can be taxed for all previous years when the error is noted, if the building has not changed ownership.

Among the problems met by the board are cases of 50-year old buildings which have been cut into small apartments and may yield a high rate of income. Owners object to being assessed a high value on these old buildings, but the board members point out it is difficult to determine the income the property yields.

Others objected to a high rate on other basis. For example some Oak Park property owners have a high tax bill but they voted for additional money for their modern school district. This has to be paid for by taxes.

THE BOARD has no choice in many cases in changing the tax rate. The board is bound by law on the amount a building may be assessed. An old building still has to be assessed at 20 percent of its replacement value. Therefore old, abandoned buildings may be assessed at the same rate as a building in use and earning revenue.

VETERANS have complained that their taxes are too high, it was pointed out. Many have erected box-type homes on the outskirts of the city and had to pay about $8,000 for their homes. They say that a $150 or $200 tax bill is more than can be borne on a $35 or $50 a week salary.

"We try to help them all we can," Golan said, "but we are bound by regulations and can not mark down bills without justified cause."

AMONG THE changes made in the operation of the Tax Appeal office have been the providing of chairs for tax payers who have to wait to file their complaints. Each person entering the room receives a number, as some chain stores give their customers, to insure that he will not have to wait longer than necessary.

Busse reunion ends with 'clownball' game

Seven generations of the Busse family, whose members now number 1530, "took over" Mt. Prospect Sunday, July 3, to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the arrival of Friedrich and Johanna Busse, pioneer couple, to America, and to give thanks for 100 years of good living in America.

The call to order was given at 2:30 p. m. by Walter Kirchhoff, celebration chairman. Rev. J. E. A. Mueller, of St. Paul Lutheran church, Mt. Prospect, was the liturgist, after which Rev. F. L. Gehrs, of St. John church, Elk Grove, spoke on "The God of the Busse Fathers." St. John church, whose history is closely allied with the growth of the Busse clan, also is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman, talked on the New Country of the Busses," and Rev. E. H. H. Gade, of Immanuel Lutheran church, Dundee, gave an address.

PRESENTATION of the oldest members of each of the six branches of the Busse family followed with the introduction of Henry W. Busse, of Des Plaines; Louis Busse, of Arlington Hts.; Fred H. Busse, of Marengo; Fred Henjes, of Arlington Heights; Commissioner William Busse, of Mt. Prospect; and Mrs. Pauline Rosenwinkel, of Forest Park.

Friedrich and Johanna Busse, immigrants from Germany, settled in Elk Grove twp. on July 3, 1848, and most of the 1530 descendants still reside within 50 miles of that area.

After the program, the audience adjourned to the ball field where a clown baseball game was in progress. Henry Kruse of Kruse's tavern supplied a group of men with clown costumes and escorted them to the field in a beer truck. After arriving at the field, the clowns jumped from the truck, one by one, onto an old mattress placed on the ground.

The Busses organized a team to play against the clowns, and there was more foolishness than serious ball playing throughout the afternoon. At the mere sight of refreshments, the clowns dropped what they were doing and ran from the field.

It is still difficult to determine who enjoyed the game more, the spectators or the participants.

SOPHIE JAKKS

The will of the late Mrs. Sophie Jakks, of Des Plaines, who died June 23, leaving an estimated $21,000 estate, has been admitted to probate in Chicago. She left her property to her seven living children and five grandchildren. Most of her property being real estate she gave to her children pieces of real estate and ordered them to pay certain sums to other children who were not given real estate. The children are: Raymond and Oren Jakks, Lydia Bestman, Laura Tegmeier, and Elsie Whetstone, all of Des Plaines; Cora Bestman and Leo Jakks, both of Arlington Heights. The share of a deceased daughter, Hulda Poehls, goes to her four children, Margaret Tuttle, Nora Skerke, Kenneth and Wallace Poehls, all of Des Plaines. She gave $1,000 to a grandson, Johnnie Jakks of Des Plaines. The residue of her estate is left to the seven children and four grandchildren.

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer from backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

County treasurer seeks $65,000 more for Sept., pay increases

Cook County Treasurer Louis Nelson figures he needs an additional $65,334.38 to finish up the year, and he put in a request for that amount this week. The board deferred action on the matter.

Nelson states he needs $5,000 for more office supplies and $45,334.38 to meet pay raises for extra help. He also asks $15,000 for his fund 329 account which he believes can be raised for an excess revenue collected over the anticipated revenue stated in the annual budget.

Penalty payments this year collected will exceed by two million dollars what was expected when the budget was drafted, he says. Over half the money in account 329 has been spent on tax searches in connection with tax foreclosure suits, all of which aids in bringing property back on the taxable rolls.

THE EXTRA money is needed, he figures his staff will have to work for four or five months at nights to keep the markings of the various books up to date. He says all this is running into over-time and extra help, though some is anticipated from the board of appeals office.

Nelson also points out the county was saved the 30-day interest on tax anticipation warrants by having the June 1 penalty date set instead of having it extended to July 1, as previously considered necessary.

He added that he had to raise pay on the regular rolls to 15 percent over last year.

Some of this money may be raised by a transfer of funds, he states. The Cook county board will have a committee examine the request in detail.

Preventing Cattle Bloat

To keep bloating in check, hungry cows should never be turned into a lush clover pasture without first feeding them all the nutritious hay they will eat just before turning into pasture. This can be accomplished by taking cattle off pasture early in evening and feeding hay next morning before allowing on pasture.

Trees need good summer 'drinks' to slake thirst

Watering trees seems like such a simple chore. Yet many home owners fail to do it properly. Brief daily hosing or sprinkling is entirely inadequate, particularly during the hot, dry weather prevailing in July, August and September, according to Billy White, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co.

Thorough soaking once or twice a week, depending upon the weather, is a must. The home owner would be well advised to adjust his hose or small sprinkler to run very slowly, allowing for complete saturation.

The practice of brief daily watering wets only the surface and encourages shallow root growth, as roots will turn upward seeking moisture. It is most important that the entire root system, which is at least equal to the spread, be saturated.

Systematic watering is necessary with well-established home trees. It is even more vital with newly planted trees. In transplanting, the tree's root system is restricted and the area of ground from which it can obtain moisture is greatly limited.

For two or three years, newly planted trees need assistance from the home owner. This is especially true when they have been taken from natural environments in grove or forest. There soil retains moisture for long periods. Under artificial conditions, a tree must depend upon outside help during dry periods.

Navy recruiting officer to make regular visits to Arlington Heights

Chief Petty Officer, John Ronk, of the Elgin Navy Recruiting Station announced that he has established headquarters at the Arlington Heights village hall and will be there every Tuesday morning to interview young men from this vicinity concerning enlistments in the Navy.

"One program of the Navy Recruiting Service particularly attractive to the young man of draft age, who wishes to select his own branch of service and volunteer before the draft machinery begins to operate, is the Navy's High School Graduate Training program," stated Ronk.

"Among other opportunities this program allows the qualified high school graduate to select his desired trade school before enlisting and be assured that upon completion of recruit training he will be enrolled at the school of his choice. This program covers schools in at least twenty different and distinct trades and duty in surface units, aviation units, of the Navy's famous CB battalions."

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Dear Jane:
At a party one day this week, the women turned to the subject of an absent one's popularity. "How does she manage to be so well liked," they asked.

One of the older women had an answer. "It's not a deep, dark secret—this knowing how to make friends," she said. "It actually is very simple. If you've ever taken the time to notice, you'll remember that Sarah likes people, and shows that she does. She has learned that most people want desperately to be liked, to receive recognition, and she gives them recognition."

I gave the subject more thought later on when I was back in my own home. And I thought about Sarah's attitude towards people. There is nothing artful about it. She is sincere. She has the intelligence to know that most individuals respond to her interest in them, just as the flowers in her garden respond to the sun. She knows that very few people, if they answered honestly, would say that they didn't want to be admired and loved.

Of course, not everyone has an instinctive liking for people, but there are very few who couldn't cultivate this attitude, if they tried. Sometimes I think we assume an attitude of distinterest in others because we have a fear of being rebuffed. We appear as cold and unfeeling personalities in order to avoid being hurt by other cold and unfeeling people. Perhaps we think it smart to wear a sophisticated air, but again, if we're really honest with ourselves, we'll admit we aren't like that inside.

Sarah shows her interest and liking for people openly. She's not afraid of being disliked, and she's not afraid of feeling foolish. She doesn't care if paying a compliment is called "Irish Blarney." She knows it has made the other fellow feel comfortable and happy, and she, herself, has earned another dividend for her "friendship bank." She has acquired another friend, of which none of us can have too many.

There isn't anything in this old world worth having that isn't obtained without putting forth some effort. Human beings never fully appreciate the things that are handed out for free. We love and cherish those things that we have worked for, and that goes for friendship, too. The more we put into making friends, the more friends we can expect to have. The more we love, the more we are loved.

It is the most irresistible force in the world.

With love, Mary.

Northbrook news

Sunday, July 4, little Mary Elizabeth Quinn was baptized at St. Norbert church with Rev. Charles Haefner officiating. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quinn of the Highlands. Mary Elizabeth was born June 20. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. John Pfeiffer.

Several friends of Brother Homobonus of St. Mary's mission house, now of Girard, Penn., at the Sacred Heart mission house, were glad to see him. He is 83 years old and is the only remaining member of St. Mary's who helped build the house, which will celebrate its 50th anniversary in 1950.

The new Catholic church and school is rapidly making progress and Rev. Haefner would like to have the books back by July 18. The foundation for the parish house is started.

A pretty wedding was held at St. Norbert church last Saturday at 4 p. m. when Miss Florence Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, exchanged marriage vows with John Craighead. Rev. Charles Haefner officiated at the ceremony. The bride wore the traditional white satin, with fingertip veil, and carried a bouquet of white gladioli. Maid of honor was her sister, Marilyn Miller, who wore green satin and carried red roses. Best man was John Enright. Dinner was served the bridal party, after which a reception for friends and relatives was held at the Kennels. The couple will make their home in Morton Grove after a several-weeks wedding trip to Canada, New York and other eastern cities. Several showers were bestowed upon the new Mrs. Craighead, one by Miss Mary Enright, at Northfield, and one by Mrs. Edmond Hebron, in Skokie.

Mrs. Fred Willis and children are house guests of her parents, the William Meiers.

Mrs. Jessie Stutman of Chicago was the house guest of her sister, Mrs. Herman Meier, for the holidays.

The garden party, eard and style show will be held Tuesday, July 14, at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Wesley Brown. The bus leaves the Chicago, St. Paul railway at 12:39 p. m. and goes right to the gate. For further notice phone any of the committee of the 1500 club, group 3.

Mrs. Henry Biehl entertained the 500 club last Tuesday. Miss Lucy Brachtendorf will be hostess to her club Tuesday, July 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schildgen and daughters motored to Minneapolis, Minn., for the week end holidays to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Eggons.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar (Paddy) Mueller and her mother, Mrs. J. Ballweber, motored to Moose Lake, Wis., last week for several days.

Robert Schaer and his friend, Robert Denner, are enjoying a motor trip for several days to New York, Niagara Falls and then the West.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meier, Mrs. Jessie Stutman, of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. George M. Meier, of Wheeling, were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Meizer of Skokie.

Mrs. C. H. Alsip of Chicago was guest of honor at a luncheon given in Evanston by her sister, Mrs. H. F. Therrien.

Mr. and Mrs. V. V. Hipsley are back at their summer home in Tomahawk, Wis.

Swiss yodelers to appear at Lake Zurich festival

The Swiss Family Fraunfelder, yodelers on radio station WLS, will appear in a Swiss village festival and carnival in Lake Zurich Saturday and Sunday, July 10 and 11.

The festival, to be held in Lions park, in conjunction with the naming of Lake Zurich in 1836 by Seth Paine, who was reminded of the famed Swiss resort by the beauty of Lake Zurich, Ill.

Busse clan gather far and wide for centennial in Mt. Prospect

MEMBERS OF THE BUSSE FAMILY came from places as distant as Georgia and Florida to celebrate the family's centennial at Mt. Prospect last Sunday. Especially honored on that occasion were the oldest members of each of the six branches of the family shown above. They are Fred H. Busse, Fred Henjes, William Busse, Mrs. Rosenwinkel, H. W. Busse and Mrs. Anna Schwake.

Below is a scene during the religious ceremony. Many of those present were strangers to each other, although members of the Busse family.

At the right—Speakers' platform—Rev. F. L. Gehrs, pastor St. John's church (100 years old), Walter Kirchhoff, chairman. Standing: Rev. J. E. A. Mueller.

An anniversary booklet giving the names of the members of the family, both living and dead, was distributed. Additional copies can be secured of Wm. J. Busse at the Mt. Prospect State Bank, where pictures of the entire group can be ordered.

THE FENCE POST

RECREATION PARK CREDIT

It has taken ten long years to exonerate publicly the fathers of the East Side park and field house, and I know that Julius Flentje, in sunny California, Walter Krause and George Schneberger of this village, and Paddock Publications feel a glow of pride because of their bitter battle to get the recreation field started.

Although last week's headlines and story about a model town failed to mention these men, the realization of the field, nevertheless, was entirely due to their efforts and their battle against practically the entire town.

Without a doubt, the field house, swimming pool, tennis courts and baseball field, were the largest contributing factors to the phenomenal growth of Arlington Heights in the past ten years—yes, and to Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights and other nearby communities.

There are, and always will be, many people who think in terms of cost alone, with never a thought of benefits derived. These same people are the ones whose homes have tripled in value, or whose business profits have doubled.

If value is received for monies spent—it's a good business deal. And for that reason, give credit to the high school board, village board and any other tax-paying bodies that produces a good physical and moral asset for our village at a reasonable cost.

It is the writer's hope that some summer day soon Julius Flentje can come back to Arlington Heights and view the health-giving activities at Recreation park.

Are you listening, Julius? One who remembers

GOODBYE

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Forrest wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for their many dinners, gifts, and many farewell kindnesses to them upon leaving Arlington Heights.

Although Oklahoma is known for its outstanding welcome and hospitality to newcomers, it will have to go a long way to measure up to Arlington Heights in our minds.

Mrs. W. B. Forrest

THANK YOU

I wish to express my appreciation and gratitude to many fine articles in the Roselle Register and others. Most of all for your "Gems of Thought," especially the ones given by Mary Baker Eddy.

Also for the articles on annual meeting of the Mother Church of Christ Scientist of Boston, Mass.

I am very happy to see these articles. Am looking forward to living in Roselle in the near future.

Bogus investigation of state institutions aids Republican party

Politically in the coming campaign this paper will support Charles S. Deneen for governor and William H. Taft for president.

The recent bogus investigation of the state penal and charitable institutions is having the effect which usually follows use of defective weapons, a reaction extremely unpleasant to the invaders. For a while, the alleged horrors which were exposed had some effect, but after evident exaggeration, the people found out the yellow newspapers and anti-Deneen legislators were behind the plot.

Then the flaring headlines and distorted accounts lost their venom and the present administration was benefited rather than harmed by the investigation.

Tales of the STREET

BY T. C. HART

● THOSE BENCHES

We told you a couple of weeks ago those green benches the local real estate men put in front of their offices were the sensation of the town, and that's what they're proving to be.

One lady remarked that Palatine people were lazy enough without having those things to help them along, but others said they appreciated those benches as a place for a few moments rest while shopping.

Another fellow said it had put Palatine back forty years to have those benches, but still another said the benches made the town neighborly and up-to-date.

And so it goes, but the benches are here to stay, and many folks are using them and appreciating them.

Roy LaLonde added a little touch of humor by the "free parking here" sign on his bench, which might possibly be construed as a sly dig at the parking meters. Of course, Mayor DePue and Village Clerk Steinbrink, being connected with the administration which installed the armless bandits, couldn't be expected to follow Roy's lead, but the benches in front of their offices are also free and are being "parked on" by lots of people.

● NEW BUS LINE

The new bus line which runs to Arlington park and services Palatine park offers a fine opportunity for expansion of bus service in this area.

If the people of the South Plum Grove road area and other areas show enough interest in bus service, Andy Geisen, head of the Geisen Bus company, may expand his Palatine service to take care of the transportation needs of a lot of people.

FROM CALIFORNIA

Enclosed find check to renew subscription to Herald.

We still enjoy reading head lines, but names of many seem to have changed considerably and you sometimes imagine you are reading a strange paper.

Notice most of the activities still center around the park and when I think back of all the trouble we encountered to get this park under way, I still get quite a kick out of it.

We have enjoyed ourselves very much the two years we have been here and like California better than ever.

Have had quite a number of our old friends from Illinois stop in and hope whenever you decide to see a real country and take a real vacation you also will stop in to see us.

J. D. Flentje

THANK YOU

Just want to report that the Mt. Prospect Girl Scouts had their cook stove for Camp Pine the very day the ad appeared. Mrs. Hughes on South State road had just what we wanted in good condition and at a reasonable price.

Thank you so much for your support. We hope we will have the opportunity of serving you some good fare—cooked at camp as soon as we have had a bit of practice.

Mrs. Edward Glaeser
Mt. Prospect.

● TRYING AGAIN

R. C. Knupper, the Rand road nurseryman, insists there is something wrong with us as to tomato growers.

For a couple of seasons, brother Knupper has been singing the praises of Burpee hybrids, but we just don't have any luck raising them.

Last year, after taking particular care of the plant, we had one little runty, green tomato. This year when we bought some plants, Knupper put in a couple of those Burpee hybrids with the remark, "If you can't raise tomatoes from these plants, there's something wrong with you."

Well, so far the plants are doing fine, and we already have one green tomato larger than the one we grew last year, so maybe this time we are really on our way with those Burpee tomatoes.

● NEW METER HOURS

Palatine village board at its next meeting is expected to pass some amendments to its parking meter ordinance, which will place ten all-day parking meters on the north side of Wilson streets, between Bothwell and Brockway streets.

Two-hour meters will be installed on the south side of Wilson street, between Bothwell and Brockway streets. Two-hour meters also will be installed on the south side of Chicago avenue between Bothwell and Brockway streets.

Another innovation expected to be covered by the revised ordinance is removal of free parking areas for doctors and charging the medical profession $5 per month, and issuing them a parking permit that will allow them to park at any spot as long as need be.

It has also been proposed to put meters on Greely street from Chicago avenue to Slade street. All these changes are being made after a study of conditions by the board and consideration of recommendations by the police department.

● NO ONE MAN

Sometimes people get a high-falutin' idea they are indispensable, and the world can't possibly get along without them.

The following, clipped from the "Treasurer's Chest," official publication of the county treasurer's office, disposes of that idea very neatly.

No man is indispensable to any job or trade —

No matter how remarkable may be his mental grade.

Because there are so many men with special qualities —

That there are always substitutes to fill the vacancies.

There may be some abilities that are considered rare —

And there may be those geniuses, we think we cannot spare.

But when we find we have to do without a certain one

There still is some successful way to get the project done.

No man is so important or so clever and so strong

That no one else could take his place to help the world along.

John Metcalfe

● THE NEW SCHOOL

A few weeks ago contractors at the new consolidated school assured the board the school would be finished and ready for use when school opened in September.

That school is almost in our back yard and we have watched its progress. We've always had a hunch the building would never be ready for the youngsters this fall, but when the contractor insisted it would be thought maybe he had some secret system to make miracles happen.

Now we read in the paper it's all off for another year, and the youngsters will again be spread all over the township in the old country schools.

A lot of planning for the school budget and all the rest of the school operations was based on getting into that new building in September. Now it looks as if all that has gone up in smoke.

● CROP OUTLOOK

Dry weather following the rainy, soggy spell of ten days ago finally permitted farmers to get at the haying business in real earnest.

A lot of hay was down during the wet spell, but reports say it wasn't too badly damaged, and farmers who started cutting after the rains had some nice weather to get their hay in. There are some whopper stands of winter wheat around the area, and it won't be long until the harvest will be on.

The oat crop was helped by the rains and now looks as if it will turn out better than expected. Corn reached the knee-high status by July 4 (at least a great deal of it did). Garden crops were all helped by the rains and despite the weird spring, things in the agricultural field are looking mighty good in these parts.

● METER TAKE

Last week's meter take amounted to $131.47.

The large percentage of coins going into the meters are still pennies, with nickels being in the minority. Officer Meyer, the meter patrolman, says he wishes more people would put in nickels and allow themselves more time, as it is the penny customers who keep him on the jump and get the tickets for over-parking.

The meter in the village clerk's office yielded $4.75 Friday morning, representing a fine of 15 cents each, or rather a "donation" of that amount, on the part of 31 ticket-holders who had been "tapped" during the past couple of weeks.

Considerable discussion was evoked at a recent board meeting by one lady autoist who evidently doesn't believe in meters and hasn't deposited any coins in the machines.

Officer Meyer continues to ticket her car when it's in violation of the ordinance, but the lady doesn't believe any more in fifteen-cent donations than she does in meters, and as yet hasn't showed up at the village clerk's office to "redeem" any of those tickets.

If the entire public acted the same way, wouldn't this meter business be a farce and a joke?

● THANKS, BOYS

Nothing we have written in many moons has created the whole-hearted approval of a certain class of people than did that little story last week about "Old Frank," the race track hustler.

"It was a wonderful tribute to the old man," said one of his friends. "We all liked it and are glad to see our humble place in the big racing game recognized by a man who is a friend of the little fellows."

"Well, after all, we've always found there are more human interest stories among the little fellows than there are among the 'big shots,' and that their friendship is more deep and sincere than that of some of the 'upper crust.'"

Questions on G. I. bill

Question: Can a disabled veteran request a State Civil Service examination be reopened as he can do in Federal Civil Service?

Answer: No.

Question: I am a veteran amputee—May I use my eligibility automobile at government expense to obtain a truck, tractor or other farm machinery instead of the car?

Answer: Yes, providing the total cost of the machinery does not exceed $1600. Complete information concerning this substitution may be obtained from your nearest Veterans Administrative Contact Representative. The original law permitting such purchases expires June 30, 1948.

Question: Can a disabled veteran who is receiving a disability pension accept a Civil Service position with the State of Illinois and continue to draw his pension?

Answer: Yes.

Question: Is a World War II veteran, who, because of a disability, is receiving compensation and deemed incapable of earning a living, entitled to admittance to the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Home?

Answer: Yes, and he is subject to the same rules and regulations of the home as are its other occupants.

Landlord may seek relief in cases of hardship or operating at a loss

Chicago area rent office hopes by Monday, July 12, to be fully equipped with instructions and supplies to help landlords who want to take advantage of the Washington-announced revision of rent regulations simplifying certain applications for rent increases, it was stated this week by Norman B. Shogren, Chicago area rent director.

"The regulation changes are not effective until July 10 and we will not be in a position to handle applications until after that," said the rent official.

"From July 12 on, however, we shall make every effort to explain comprehensively the requirements in every case called to our attention and to act upon the petitions for adjustment with speed, once they are filed for official consideration."

Shogren said he agrees with National Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods who announced that rent offices now will have a complete answer to the past objection that a landlord, operating at a loss, could not always obtain relief.

"Especially welcome here in the Chicago area will be the change that permits the so-called small landlord to use a short form in seeking hardship adjustment," he added.

"It will take care of a complaint that owners of only one or two properties do not keep books or records and are not able, therefore, to produce the figures required to get a hardship increase."

Shogren pointed out that now small landlords will need only tax receipts, insurance premium notices, and fuel and utility bills to submit with the simplified application form.

He summarized information on the changes as follows:

Operating at a loss—A landlord who believes he is operating at a loss may file a petition for increased rent on a form known as D-99. He will show total income from the property, total operating expenses for the current year and, deducting one from the other, he will show his operating loss. Operating expenses include depreciation but exclude interest charges.

Hardship adjustments—A landlord of four units or fewer may file a short form petition to show he has had a decrease in net income from rentals because of increased costs for taxes, fuel, utilities and insurance. He may base his petition on taxes alone, or may add any one or all the other items. However, no part of the building subject to the petitions may be in use for commercial purposes. If a landlord has not saved the bills required, he may get the information from the tax office, insurance company and fuel and utility concerns.

Shogren emphasized that petitions for adjustment of rents are possible only when a property is not under rent-increase lease.

PLANTS LOCATE IN SUBURBS

A total of 36 new industries made arrangements to locate their plants in suburban communities during the first half of 1948, it was reported this week by the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois.

When in operation, it is expected that they will employ over 2600 persons. Of the 36 new plants, 176 are newly organized firms, eight are branch plants of existing companies, and ten are moving their operations in from outside the area.

Bits O' Business

Unprecedented production by refineries has all but eliminated the possibility of a gasoline shortage this summer and has minimized the threat of a winter fuel oil shortage. . . . Steel mills are working at 96 to 97 per cent of capacity instead of 100 because of a hand-to-mouth situation in scrap, ore and coke. . . . The world sugar output will be within two per cent of prewar levels this year but a surplus will exist because many countries won't be able to afford their quotas. . . . A 100 per cent rise in farmers' cash income from prewar levels has proved a fertile market for electrical manufacturers. . . . Sales of phonograph records are off 40 per cent from 1947 levels. . . . The demand for meat has reduced the number of milk cows in this country from 26.1 million to 23.5 million within three years, a loss of 2.6 million. . . . New dwelling units placed in construction under FHA financing programs total 131,346 for the first five months of this year—72,482 more than in the corresponding five months of 1947.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

It always amuses me to watch two strangers being introduced. Almost always there is an over-expressiveness, a disarming friendliness that strives to hide the quick, over all examinations, careful weighing of tone, facial expression, posture, clothing — lightning impulses flashing through the nervous system that tend to classify for once and all the natures of the persons involved.

And it scares me when I think of how much depends on that first fleeting moment of introduction. Opinions are made in that instant, and prejudices formed, which are seldom changed. Only rarely does a person grow to like a person whom he disliked at a first meeting. Seldom, too, does he come to dislike one whom on first impression he liked.

The startling thing is how cannily we can size one another up in the first two minutes we are together. Few people go through life without being understood. People may never know why you act as you do, and may not care; but they know whether you are generous or stingy, shy or bold, boastful or modest, meek or fierce, stubborn or yielding, and a hundred other things most of which they never even think of consciously until something happens to arouse their recollections.

The things that make us such open books to one another are the things we, often unconsciously, say and do, our little peculiarities, and mannerisms. We cannot long conceal what we are from other people. If we want to be well liked, we must learn the qualities that other people like, and not hesitate to display them on every occasion.

Tact, good sportsmanship, a sense of humor, sincerity, friendliness, stick out all over us if we practice them. So does jealousy, cattiness, rudeness, poor sportsmanship.

Perhaps the two most important character traits are sincerity and humor. They will carry you through most introductions with flying colors, for what does not strike one person favorably will strike another. And you can learn to emphasize the one that is most effective with the person you are getting acquainted with.

NOT HUMANS

Telephone Service Is Increasing In Farm Areas; New Methods Used

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Remember the farm which used to be too far out in the country to have a telephone? That was yesterday. Today it probably is just another number on the party line—or soon will be. For telephone service has spread so rapidly in the last two years that a record 42% of the nation's farm homes now have telephones.

WHAT'S YOUR GUESS? Wrong... it's an antenna installation at a ranch house for, of all things, a radio telephone for rural use.

Construction of rural telephone lines still is proceeding at the fastest rate in history. In addition to bringing service to many new rural customers, all companies are continuing their efforts to improve and modernize existing lines and other facilities. New methods and the use of new machinery have increased considerably the practical range of rural telephone lines.

Latest scientific advances made toward bringing telephone service to a greater number of farm residences include use of the power line carrier, telephone line carrier and radio-telephone. The power line carrier is of particular benefit to those families living near power lines, but remote from regular telephone lines. Such conditions used to add up to just one conclusion: no telephone service. Today, however, for telephone conversations now can be transmitted over power lines, thanks to the new power line carrier. The telephone line carrier is similar to the power line carrier, except that it operates over existing telephone lines. Its use permits an increase in the number of telephone conversations which ordinarily can be transmitted over telephone wires.

The radio-telephone is science's answer to rural residents living far from both power and telephone lines. Short wave radio is used, with sending and receiving sets located in the home of each subscriber. Calls, however, are made in the old familiar way and they are handled through a central office just as if an old "side window" phone were used. And the way, the radio telephone is on its way out. Yes, rural dial phones are entering the picture.

With telephone and electric service, it soon will be difficult to tell a farm home from a city home. Difficult, that is, until you look out the window. If you see wide open spaces, country living, you're enjoying—in the midst of urban conveniences.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. When telephoning, what is the rule for a married woman in the use of "Mrs." before her name?

A. If making a social call to a friend, she may say, "This is Mary Jones." If making a business call, she should say, "This is Mrs. Charles Jones."

Q. How are flowers addressed when sent to a funeral?

A. To the individual who is regarded as the chief mourner, or to the member of the family whom the one sending the flowers knows best.

Q. Should pickles be eaten at the table with fingers or fork?

A. Small whole pickles may be eaten with the fingers. Mixed pickles are usually eaten with the fork.

Q. Is it proper to have only bridesmaids who are unmarried?

A. As a rule they are, especially if the maid of honor is unmarried; but if the girl's intimate friends are married, this rule can most certainly be disregarded.

Q. Are you supposed to push your chair under the table when leaving the dinner table?

A. Most authorities suggest that it is in better taste to leave one's chair where it is when arising from the table.

Q. What is the correct way for a woman to refer to her husband?

A. Under usual circumstances a woman refers to her husband as Mr. Smith, although sometimes when addressing a stranger she may say, "My husband." In conversation with a friend, she uses his first name.

Q. How can a girl pay respect to the flag when it is carried in a procession?

A. She stands with her hands relaxed at her sides. A man removes his hat and stands at attention.

Q. Should the tissue paper that comes with engraved invitations be sent with the invitations to the guests?

A. The tissue paper is folded in with the invitations.

Q. If a girl has been corresponding with a number of men, and becomes engaged to be married, should she stop the correspondence?

A. Yes; the girl should stop this correspondence immediately upon announcement of the engagement.

Q. What is the proper thing to say when two persons separate after an introduction?

A. "Good-by, Mrs. Wilson" is sufficient. Try to avoid the trite phrase, "Pleased to have met you."

Lake Zurich playhouse presents third production

On Wednesday through Sunday evenings, July 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11, the Lake Zurich Playhouse will present "George Washington Slept Here," by Kaufman and Hart. This has been a very successful comedy both on the stage and screen a few seasons back. The Lake Zurich Playhouse brings to its stage a refreshing new production of the show with Constance Charles, William J. Harahan, Gerald E. McGonigill, and Penny Moran handling the principal roles.

The story deals with the trials and tribulations of a city dwelling family converting a rundown farmhouse of Revolutionary War days into a modern, comfortable summer retreat.

There is the usual large and varied assortment of Kaufman and Hart "characters" to help with the fun. The play will be under the direction of Bella D. Itkin. The house, supposedly slept in by George Washington, will be designed by Lee Travis. Next week, July 14, through the 18, "Boy Meets Girl," by Bel- la and Sam Spewack. This hilarious satire on Hollywood will feature Richard Bull, Robert Casper, and Bobbie Collette in the leading roles.

Tickets are on sale at the box-office and reservations can be made by writing, or phoning L. Z. 4441. Curtain at 8:45.

Divorce rate lowest in eight years

The U. S. divorce rate in 1947 was the lowest in eight years because of the high cost of living and the fact that more women are dependent since they lost their wartime jobs, according to the findings of Mary Jane Bailey, staff editor of the World Book Encyclopedia.

Miss Bailey who authored the "Divorce" article in the World Book Encyclopedia's 1948 Annual Supplement, reports that the chances of staying married are best in Buffalo, New York. This city, located in Erie County, recorded the greatest divorce decline of any American community. In 1946, the peak year for divorces, Buffalo had 1,121 annulments and 892 divorces. In 1947, Buffalo's record revealed only 349 annulments and 387 divorces.

The Reno divorce factory reported only 7,122 divorces as compared with 11,060 in '46. St. Louis had a 43 per cent decrease and closed one of its three domestic relations courts. A 20 per cent drop was evidenced in New York City, with only 9,320 divorces granted by the end of September. For the same period in '46, the nation's largest city had 11,926 divorces.

Syringas
Syringas blossom out so slowly. Each bloom a white star, pure and holy. And when the bush is loaded down It wears, this queen, a starry crown. Each velvet petal asks the wind to woo it. I know because I saw them do it.

Two very small youngsters came to collect our papers "for the school." "What did the school do with them?" we asked. "Sends them to the Germans, I guess," ventured the smallest boy. The donated dress, wrapped in newspaper, was left for Pearl to decide if she could make use of it. "Lawsy, I've wearin' it right now," was her report. "I see the package an' started readin' the paper an' the dress fell out. I jes' put it on an' finished the paper." S'Amuser.

Soil-testing studies of FFA produce better crops

F. F. A. club members in the front row (left to right) are Don Linneman, John Filantres, Raymond Lump, Frank Deige and Albert Carol.

Five F. F. A. boys recently attended a three-day convention in Urbana Future Farmers and the chapter was awarded fourth place in section three for club activities. This was Arlington's first year at the convention, so the rating was considered an unusual accomplishment.

Dads taught by sons how to farm the modern way

More than one old time farmer and truck gardener discovered this year that his son could tell him a few things about soil fertility.

A few of those dads may have been hard to convince, but one son who attended Arlington Heights high school the past year did such a good job of selling to his parent that 65 tons of limestone and 8 tons of rock phosphate were placed on a 14-acre field.

THIS WAS just one example of the many that took advantage of the soil testing equipment at the school. The year which just closed is the first time that agriculture has been taught in the Arlington Heights high school.

J. D. Bryson, vocational agriculture teacher, does not claim the information he is giving to his "ag" boys is something new. Service, Bryson stated, "has been available for years through the local farm bureau and university of Illinois, but the fact is that the boys are carrying the facts right into the farm homes of the Wheeling and Elk Grove area. As a result there are going to be bigger and better crops raised than previously, resulting in bigger farm incomes.

"The training the boys in my soil testing classes receive makes them soil test conscious. After these boys leave school they will more readily avail themselves of soil testing facilities of the farm bureau. The actual practice of book learning they receive at school. The majority of these boys are not getting an education in order to leave home for an outside job.

SOIL TESTING is only one of the branches of agriculture that is being talked by Bryson. He has been in this work ten years.

This year his students won honors in poultry judging, the "Chapter" Future Farmers of America contest, and in the sectional parliamentary procedure contest.

The F. F. A. teachers leadership along with actual knowledge of crops and livestock, and a knowledge of correct parliamentary practices is one of the best ways to start.

Ask Douglas airport be renamed in honor of naval hero

Flying companions of the late Lt. Comdr. Edward Henry "Butch" O'Hare, winner of the congressional medal of honor, told glowing accounts of the hero Thursday before a Council subcommittee and submitted that Orchard Place airport also known as Douglas, be named in his honor.

Alderman John J. Hoellen who submitted the ordinance that the airport be named "O'Hare Field" pointed out that great airports country-wide are named in honor of air-heroes.

Members of the naval reserve and the ninth naval district all appeared before the group to urge the field be so named.

O'Hare won the Congressional medal of honor for his single-handed defense of the carrier Lexington in 1942 when he shot down five Jap planes and crippled a sixth. He was considered for another medal for night-flying experiments and battles, during which he lost his life in 1943. The committee took the matter under advisement.

Marines, Army report record enlistments from high school graduates

Maybe it's the draft. Maybe it's the fact that school was out last month. Maybe it's the tendency of youth to follow in the footsteps of others. The fact remains that the United States Marines Recruiting station in the federal building has had the largest influx of recruits in fifteen months of operation. The army reported a similar phenomenon.

Maj. William M. Lundin, in charge of Marine recruiting for this area, said 43 men were inducted in one day from Illinois and portions of Wisconsin and Indiana. They enlisted for three or four year terms, which belied the theory that desire to escape the impending one-year draft was responsible.

Most recruits were high school June graduates, indicating the Marine promotion campaign in high schools is bearing fruit. Enlistment can be at 17 with parental consent, otherwise 18 with 29 the top limit, except those with Marine experience.

Capt. Frederick Huck of army recruiting headquarters said one day's total of 89 applicants was high for June.

The area covers roughly Cook county. Recruiting personnel observe that questions concerning reserve status exceed enlistments—most of the reserves are now filled—and that no great enthusiasm for military service exists except among the youngest age groups. Personally, they don't blame the prospects, because most of them went through the war and don't relish the thought of another one.

IAA veterinarian advises vaccination as rabies safeguard

This hot mid-summer weather will bring renewed cries of "mad dog" from horrified dog owners who see their pets having convulsions and frothing at the mouth.

Killing these dogs simply because they are suspected of having rabies is a poor policy, in the opinion of Dr. C. D. Van Houweling, director of veterinary medical relations for the Illinois Agricultural Association.

"Most of these animals are not suffering from rabies. Several common diseases cause convulsions and frothing," Van Houweling cautions. "Killing the dog makes it impossible to determine from an examination of the brain whether or not the disease is rabies. And contrary to popular belief, rabies does not occur more frequently during hot weather."

To guard against rabies Van Houweling recommends that dogs be vaccinated about once a year. He considers this to be a reliable way to prevent the disease. He also suggests that dogs be protected against distemper from the time they are puppies by use of the proper serum. In its advanced stages distemper causes symptoms that resemble rabies.

Vets no longer can learn to mix cocktails at government expense

After today veterans no longer may enroll for courses in bartending, personality development, dancing, cocktail mixing, skiing, fishing, bowling, horseback riding and other avocational and recreational training under the GI bill.

With the beginning of the 1949 federal fiscal year at midnight, the Veterans Administration is barred by its appropriation act from using any of the money allotted for 1949 to pay tuition for any course of instruction which the administrator of veterans' affairs determines to be avocational or recreational. Payment of subsistence allowance to any person taking such courses also is barred.

Although congress prohibited further use of public money for veteran instruction in courses that drew sharp criticism in the past, it also provided that courses started prior to today may be completed.

Another course now ruled out by the administrator of veterans' affairs is flying for pleasure. Flight training in connection with a veteran's present or contemplated occupation, however, is specifically approved by the appropriation act.

The complete list of barred courses includes: dancing, photography, glider flying, bartending, mixology, personality development, entertainment, vocal and instrumental music, public speaking, horseback riding, swimming, fishing, skiing, golf, baseball, tennis and bowling.

Courses in music, physical education and public speaking which always have been considered and offered by institutions of higher learning as leading to an educational objective are not barred under the law, nor is job training affected in any way.

Banker urges farmers to set up reserve with U. S. savings bonds

Arthur Franzen, executive vice-president of Arlington Heights National Bank, believes in savings as a protection to the future welfare of the individual and especially the farmer who has large investments in land and equipment. In his estimation there is no better method of savings than U. S. Savings bonds.

"Every well-managed business should set aside a part of its income as a reserve against future needs and emergencies. I know from personal experience that a bank needs to set aside a part of its earnings for replacing equipment in the bank, to cover repairs on the bank building, and to take care of possible losses on loans and investments.

"It seems to me the idea of laying up financial reserves applies even more to the business of farming than it does to banking, or say, manufacturing shoes.

"If a person is working in a bank or factory the stockholders of the company furnish the capital for the building and equipment and carry the risk on losses. But you as farm people know that a farm is a combination of a home and a business and that a farmer has to finance the plant in which he works. So he needs financial reserves for both personal and business reasons.

"During World War II farm people, and others of course, got into the habit of salting down money in War Bonds—the safest possible investment and one that will have a higher rather than a lower purchasing power in case prices of farm products go down. I believe that practice of putting farm financial reserves into the bonds of our federal government should be a definite and permanent part of the financial program of every farm family.

"I am not a farmer, but it seems to me that a financial reserve is just as badly needed as a part of a well-managed farm business as land, livestock, or a tractor. Farming is a highly speculative business at best so farm people need to have their financial reserves in the safest possible form and where they will be readily available when needed. Nothing meets those two requirements so well as U. S. Savings Bonds.

"I imagine many of you already have a good nest egg in U. S. Savings Bonds. In fact, I guess our bank sold you quite a few of them. The nest egg of Savings Bonds will certainly stand you in good stead in case of a crop failure or sickness in the family or a bad run of some crop or animal disease. But how about a reserve against possible lower prices?

"We have, of course, been having some pretty high prices but the thing I can't help remembering is this: Each of the major wars in our history has meant a rapidly rising general price level, followed eventually by drastically falling prices, and when the general price level of the country falls, prices of farm products lead the procession downward.

"With each successive war, many persons have said, 'Yes, I know prices dropped after the other war, but this time don't you think we have quite a different situation?' Many persons are saying the same thing today. Conditions may be different from what they were after other wars and no one knows what the future trend of prices will be. It should be remembered, however, that eventually after each of our previous major wars we have had a drastically falling price level and a severe depression.

Changes in the general price level of the country have made and broken more farm people and other businessmen financially than any other economic factor. An individual farm family can do little about controlling fluctuations in the general price level. But building up a financial reserve in U. S. Savings Bonds when incomes are good will help to cushion any drop in prices that may come later.

"Now just a word about the bonds themselves. First, the bonds are now available exactly the same E, F and G Bonds we bought during World War II and called "War Bonds." But no matter what we call them they are U. S. Savings Bonds and still the world's best investment.

"I believe every well-managed business should have a financial reserve against the needs and uncertainties of the future; and that the best form in which to have farm financial reserves is U. S. Savings Bonds."

The 1947 production of potatoes—more than 44 million bushels—was nearly two million greater than in 1946. In both years the crops were nearly a third larger than the 1944 and 1945 crops of less than 33 million bushels. These four large crops compare with an average of about 20 million bushels for the 10 years from 1936 to 1945.

Historic and modern trains roll into Chicago for fair opening July 20

On the heels of the Freedom Train's entrance to Chicago, the largest array of historic railroad equipment ever assembled in one train moved this week into the lakefront grounds of the forthcoming national Railroad Fair between 20th and 30th streets.

The Railroad Fair train includes 31 pieces of equipment which the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad is providing for the centennial railroad exposition of grand scale pageantry, exhibits and entertainment, scheduled to open for the summer July 20. With such old timers on board as the original "Atlantic" locomotive built in 1822, and a full-scale replica of the "Tom Thumb" locomotive of 1829, the historic trainload has won widespread attention since leaving Baltimore on June 26, stopping for exhibitions at all large cities enroute.

Much of the B & O equipment will be used daily during the Railroad Fair in "Wheels a-Rolling," a giant pageant of transportation on a 450-foot stage over which are laid three standard gauge railroad tracks. The remainder of the equipment will be on display along with that of other railroads on the two and one-half miles of railroad track set aside for exhibit of all types of railroad rolling stock, including old time locomotives and trains as well as many of today's most famous streamliners.

The historic B & O train will have three old time locomotives — the "Lafayette" of 1837, the "William Mason" of 1836, and the "Thatcher Perkins" of 1863. Other famous old time equipment on board will include the "Pioneer" horse-drawn passenger car used on the B & O when it opened for service in 1829, the car which beat the "Tom Thumb" locomotive in a famous race; a car used by the B & O's directors in 1829; two passenger cars of 1832; two "pot hoppers" cars used to carry coal during the Civil War, two iron boxcars for hauling ammunition during the Civil War and two passenger coaches and a baggage car of the same period; and a passenger coach from a famous train of the gay nineties. Also in the train's make-up will be two modern steam locomotives for exhibit at the fair, as well as several modern freight cars and a new streamlined reclining-seat chair coach.

Civil service examinations

An examination was announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission for filling National Scientist positions in Washington, D. C., and throughout the United States, at salaries ranging from $3,397 to $5,905 a year. The majority of the positions are in the Hydrographic Office of the Department of the Navy; vacancies will also be filled in the Coast and Geodetic Survey, Department of Commerce, and in other Federal agencies.

Interested persons may obtain information and application forms from the Commission's Local Secretary, Mr. Francis S. Hall located at Arlington Heights, Ill. from Civil regional offices, or from the Commission's Washington office. Applications will be accepted by the Civil Service Commission in Washington until December 31, 1948; however, persons who wish to be considered for positions to be filled immediately should have their applications on file not later than August 4, 1948.

Legion seeks goal of new members

Continuing its drive for a membership of 250,000 for the 30th Annual State Convention in Chicago Sept. 10-13, The American Legion now has 221,220 members in Illinois—highest in Legion history for this date—William G. Burns, State Senior Vice-Commander and Membership Chairman, said today (Tuesday).

A year ago, the Legion had 219,142 enrollees. During the last month, the organization has added 6,095 members. Illinois still ranks third in national membership, paced only by Pennsylvania and New York.

Children's diseases drop to new low, says Dr. Piszczek

Remaining danger is heat and fatigue warning to parents

Cook county's children are in fairly good health, Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, director of the county board of health, announced Thursday.

"Most of the children's diseases have dropped and all we have to watch for now is the effects of heat and fatigue," he said. Measles, which had an epidemic season this year, dropped from the thousand case mark in April and May to 250 new cases in June. Chicken pox dropped from 537 in March to 389 in April, 187 in May to 110 cases in June.

No rabid dogs have been found in the county for the last two weeks. The last rabid dog was reported on June 17. There have been 43 rabid dogs encountered this year.

Mumps have dropped off considerably in the last two weeks. In April there were 528 cases and 388 cases in May. Most of June's 267 cases occurred in the first two weeks of the month.

There have only been four cases of polio reported since Jan. 1. There were two cases in June. Last year there were nine cases reported at this time.

And health officials are conferring with the state's Attorney to draft laws which will provide for the licensing, labelling and inspection of horse meat. Dr. Piszczek reports there has been no sales of horse meat for human consumption recently that he knows about.

With the children out of school, however, he said, mothers should watch for over-fatigue and the effect of heat on their children.

Oak Forest inmates to get $2.50 spending money per month

A personal fund of $2.50 for each patient in Oak Forest not covered by a pension was approved Friday by the public welfare committee of the county board.

Joseph L. Moss, director of the public welfare bureau, said there were about 700 to 800 patients now at the institution who are not receiving old age pensions and were under the support of the county welfare bureau.

The estimated cost a year for this spending money is $24,000 to $30,000.

Mrs. Elizabeth Conkey, chairman of the committee, agreed that the patients should have spending money to buy cigarettes, candy or a newspaper.

She was concerned about the possibility of criticism if the patients would use the money to get drunk. Moss said that if a few did that, there was no reason to penalize all the patients. It was agreed after some discussion that $2.50 a month would not purchase much liquor anyway.

Strawberry Whipped Cream Pie

1 baked pie shell
1 quart of ripe strawberries
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons corn starch
1/2 pint whipping cream.

Method: Slice the berries, cover with sugar for thirty min. Drain the juice as for sun preserves. Heat the juice and thicken with the corn starch. Boil. This is very thick. Fold the berries into this mixture. Chill. Whip the cream and fold into the berries. Fill the baked pie shell. Garnish the top with large berries.

Illinois car census up 17.7% since 1944

Illinois, with its automobile population up 17.7 per cent since 1944, is rapidly recovering from a wartime low in car registrations, Powell Crosley, Jr., pioneer lightweight car manufacturer, pointed out here today.

"Such a gain in Illinois is especially significant because car registrations in recent years have dropped considerably in the industrial east, midwest and grain states, with marked shifts of population to the south, southwest and Pacific Coast," Crosley said. "The state appears not only to have held its own against this trend but also to have improved the economy of its people."

Motor vehicle ownership in Illinois rose from 1,724,336 in 1944 to 2,030,001 last year. "Continued progress in this direction, Crosley said, is reflected in the growing demand for small cars which provide economical transportation for many families who have hitherto been priced out of the automotive market.

Based on recent census figures, there is one passenger car for every 4.7 persons in Illinois, the state ranking thirtieth in the nation in this respect.

Lutheran Old Folks Home Festival Sunday

Thousands are expected to attend
annual event

The Lutheran old folks home festival, to be held next Sunday, July 11, on the grounds of the home at Arlington Heights, will have two outstanding churchmen as speakers. Dr. Carl S. Mundinger, president of Saint John's Lutheran college, Winfield, Kansas, will speak in the morning at 10:30, and Dr. F. C. Streufert, the Missouri synod's secretary of missions, St. Louis, Missouri, will speak at 3 p. m. Thousands of visitors from Chicago and other points in northern Illinois will be present at the festival to hear them.

Professor Carl S. Mundinger, M. A., Ph. D., is an author as well as an instructor and lecturer on the history of the Saxons who immigrated to St. Louis in 1839 and founded the Lutheran Missouri Synod, now an international Lutheran church with far flung churches and missions, known in every continent through Dr. Walter A. Maier's radio program, the Lutheran Hour.

Dr. F. C. Streufert, secretary of missions for the Missouri Synod, recently completed a 15,000 mile tour of South and Central America. To the festival audience he will bring a stirring message as to the church's responsibility toward its aged Christians. Later in the afternoon he will portray interesting and dramatic missionary experiences in the various mission fields of South America.

Visitors at the festival will find refreshment stands open from 12 noon until 3 p. m. and following the afternoon service. The stands will serve ice cream, soft drinks, candy, sandwiches, and lunches. As in other years the visitors will enjoy eating their lunches on the home's grounds.

A fancy goods booth on the front lawn of the home will offer exquisitely made fancy goods for sale. One of the outstanding attractions of the festival, the fancy goods booth will display articles prepared by a ladies group of St. Peter Church and others, Arlington Heights, and by residents of the home. A number of ladies groups of greater Chicago have also participated by furnishing goods and others by monetary contributions.

The choir of Immanuel Lutheran church, Palatine, will participate in the afternoon's entertainment. The Harmony Band of Chicago, directed by Dr. Roy Reimer, besides playing for the services will also entertain the festival guests. Miss Ruth Plotenhauer, Chicago, will sing for the afternoon service as well as for the entertainment.

Traffic will be directed by Arlington Heights police and deputy police. Saint Peter Boy Scouts, Troop 37, and Troop 7, Arlington Heights, will assist them and also perform messenger and other needed services. Troop 7 will furnish a first aid tent.

Nurses of Walther Memorial hospital, Chicago, will be on duty to furnish first aid.

Chicago motorists use
Ela-Palatine road
for race track

Four Chicago youths and one from Park Ridge were arrested on charges of reckless driving at Palatine and Ela roads, Palatine township, late Thursday night by the Morton Grove county highway police.

The youths, according to Sgt. John Selle, were racing one another on motorcycles along Ela road after the intersection. The highway police made the arrest on the complaint of Harold Vogt, Route 2, Palatine.

Previous complaints for the past several weeks brought the police to the "race track," Sgt. Selle said, but the men eluded the deputies each time.

Those arrested Thursday were Richard Ecklund, 21, of 1753 West Arthur, Park Ridge; Allen Sinedell, 20, of 1712 Albion avenue; Henry Merz, 21, 1932 Maple avenue; John Tobin, 21, of 1748 Albion avenue, and John Szykowski, 20, of 5719 Pensacola avenue. The latter four are all Chicagoans.

The youths, who were released after posting bonds of $50 each, will be arraigned in the Morton Grove police court July 7.

Arlington Heights youths, adults enjoy movie roles

"Even the weather in Arlington Heights is cooperating," Robert Wesley, production manager for the education movie being staged here, commented Tuesday afternoon.

"The kids are well-behaved and eager to help, and Frank Vokac and his assistants at Recreation park are doing a good job of organizing the scenes we want to shoot. And the weather, well, Arlington Heights has even better outdoor-movie weather than we've thought possible."

Filming of the educational movie, featuring model recreational facilities for youngsters in Arlington Heights, is in the second week of production and is one-fourth completed.

"So far most of the shots have been outdoor scenes at Recreation park with kids on the base-b-ball diamond and in the swimming pool," Wesley added.

THE shooting so far has depicted the facility of creating an extensive playground system that does not have proper leadership. Scenes have been faked to show youngsters doing what they shouldn't do on a play ground. In one scene, a boy is shown stealing a horn from a bicycle; in another, several boys start fighting on the baseball diamond; and in a third episode, another group of youngsters are shown throwing grass through an open window into a room where a ladies group is meeting.

"We appreciate the cooperation of Mr. Vokac and the youngsters in acting these parts for the sake of the movie," Wesley stated.

Herb Newcomb, ABC radio actor, was the central figure being "shot" Tuesday afternoon. As the reporter in the movie who follows the activities of the park system without and later with adequate adult guidance, Newcomb has been filmed walking along Recreation park and near-by streets seeking a solution to the recreation-park problem.

In a few days, the shooting crew will go indoors for several scenes. Arrangements are being made now with LeRoy Knoepfel, high school principal, to do some filming in the high school.

The movie is being made by the Athletic Institute, non-profit organization, and the filming is being done by Dallas Jones productions, Chicago. Arlington was selected by the institute as a model town in regard to recreation facilities for youngsters.

The filming here is being sponsored by Arlington Heights grade and high school boards of education and Arlington Heights park board.

Village presidents to discuss housing
at Park Ridge

Mayors Albert W. Goedke of Arlington Heights, Wm. H. DePue of Palatine, and Maurice B. Pendleton of Mt. Prospect will attend a meeting next week held at the Park Ridge chamber of commerce to discuss results of a housing market analysis just released by Cook County Housing authority for the northwest counties of the county.

THE INVITATIONAL meeting will be held Thursday, July 15, at 8 p. m. at Lincoln school, Park Ridge.

James C. Downs Jr., president of Real Estate corporation of Chicago, which made the market studies for the housing authority, will discuss the methods of analysis and facts obtained by them. They deal with present housing facilities, existing housing demands and future needs, resources and means of satisfying both, and related matters.

ADMISSION is by invitation only and attendance will also include Mayors Alfred P. Haake of Park Ridge and G. Walter Plughaupt of Des Plaines, and Village Presidents Arthur Ortel of Wheeling, Frank J. Stanowicz of Niles, Earl Hapje of Barrington, Herbert Heuning of Harwood Heights and H. C. Thurnow of Bartlett.

Also invited to the meeting are major builders and real estate brokers, planning officials, school executives and executives of chambers of commerce and major committee members.

21st annual
Wheeling Days
July 17 and 18

Twenty-first annual Wheeling Day celebration will be held Saturday and Sunday evenings, July 17 and 18, on the Wheeling school grounds, sponsored jointly by the Wheeling Chamber of Commerce and the Wheeling fire department. The special attractions this year will be a 1949 Ford Super Deluxe Fordor Sedan, which has been on display during the past two weeks. Others are a G. E. Comb. Freezer and refrigerator, a power lawn mower, Electro-Lux vacuum cleaner and a floor lamp.

There will be the usual rides and dancing along with the games to provide plenty of entertainment for the whole family. Refreshment stands will be well stocked with hamburgers and hot-dogs for which Wheeling is famous.

Plan deluxe motel of 23 units at Arlington Heights

A motel design, prepared by Jos. S. Giase with building application, accompanied by a check for necessary permits were presented by Thos. J. Boyer to the Arlington Heights village board Monday evening.

THE APPLICATION was made without final building plans to secure the reaction of the municipality to the establishment of a deluxe motorcourt on the North-west highway, in the wooded area east of the skating rink now under construction.

The cost of the project is tentatively set at $75,000. Construction would be of brick with carports in the rear. Each unit will comprise a sleeping room, a kitchenette, furnishings and a bathroom.

The 23 units will be divided between six structures. The village board took no action. The location is within the business zone.

Arlington farmer
victim of the jinx

If you do not believe in a jinx read what happened to Nick Herff. It was a lucky jinx the first time he crossed Rand road, not so lucky the second time he tried it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Nilles, 6230 Kedvale ave., Chicago, escaped with minor bruises and shock Tuesday morning when Mr. Nilles lost control of his car at the intersection of Rand and Arlington Heights roads.

He was successful in avoiding a collision with a second car, but presence of stone on the outside lane caused his car to leave the road.

The Nilles car hurdled a 6 ft. ditch and would probably have turned turtle, further injuring the occupants, but a guy wire supporting a high tension electric line, acted as a cushion and stopped the auto before it overturned into a second ditch.

Nick Herff, a farmer residing on Arlington Heights road, was traveling south and had stopped at the intersection to allow a north bound car to pass. As he started across Rand road he heard the horn and screech of brakes and stopped his car in the center of the highway. Nilles, to avoid hitting the Nerf car, turned to the right lane.

Again he got in the center of the road when an approaching car caused him to again stop. This time the other car, a cab, did not miss him.

Attend Midwest
American Farm Bureau conference

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mills have just returned from St. Paul, Minn., where they attended the Midwest Conference of the American Farm Bureau.

The conference consisted of luncheons, dinners, and talks on legislative matter of national and world importance. Alan Cline, president of the American Farm Bureau, talked on European conditions and told how the Farm Bureau could take part in helping to rebuild war devastated countries.

As part of the conference, which was attended by 1,000 people and held at the Lowry hotel, the delegates were taken on a tour of Minneapolis.

Enroute home Mr. and Mrs. Mills stopped at the Wisconsin Dells and enjoyed a day of sight seeing.

frolicking results in night in 'cooler'

The peace of Mt. Prospect was marred Sunday night at one a. m. by a citizen who had celebrated the Fourth a little too strenuously, and let his curiosity get out of hand.

Officer Fosland finally arrested the man on South Wapella avenue, after following him on foot from the east side of town in order to get sufficient evidence. Suspecting him of nocturnal activities for some time, the police had been handicapped by lack of evidence.

After cooling off overnight in a cell at Arlington Heights, the culprit appeared in Judge Gould's court Tuesday evening to ask for an extension of time before making his plea.

Mayor praises citizens for sane holiday
observance

"The citizens of Arlington Heights are to be complimented for their splendid cooperation in helping observe a safe and sane Fourth of July," Mayor Goedke commented to Paddock Publications on Tuesday.

"There were no serious accidents due to fireworks this year and no complaints were received by police in connection with shooting of fireworks," the mayor added.

Unsolved mystery at Arlington
police station

Sometime between Friday night and Saturday afternoon a quantity of fireworks locked into a cell in the Arlington Heights police station disappeared.

There is not a police officer or village employee who knows how it happened.

The fireworks were taken from J. E. Henley, who recently purchased a lot at the corner of Northwest highway and Wilke road for display of prefab homes. It was on complaint of the father of a ten-year-old Barrington boy that Judge Behrens issued a state warrant charging John Doe with unlawful sale of fireworks. The judge called in a local police officer to make the arrest, who found when he arrived on the scene that the sale occurred east of Wilke road and inside the village limits.

Henley was taken into custody and his stock of fireworks locked up for the night. The next day the complaint refused to prosecute or appear in court, which voided the state warrant.

The only charge that could still apply under village ordinance was the illegal storage of fireworks, and on that charge Henley was fined $25 and cost.

The village ordinance does not provide for confiscation of fireworks and Judge Behrens ordered the return of the goods taken from Henley.

When the judge discovered that a substantial quantity of the firecrackers, skyrockets, pinwheels, etc., had disappeared, he returned the $30 to Henley and entered on the docket, "fine paid in fireworks that mysteriously disappeared."

June building permits exceed May total
by $175,025

New building permits issued for construction in Mt. Prospect reached a peak in June with a total of $245,765.

This figure covers 19 houses, 2 porches, 8 garages, and 2 additions.

Eight new homes are located on Wapella avenue, at numbers 209, 211, 215, 217, 220, 222 and 300. Others are located at 511 Hillside, 204 S. Edward, 600 W. Gowanda, 310 and 312 S. Pine, 317 and 319 N. Wille, 322 N. Emerson, 520 S. Edward, 420 N. Pine, and 319 S. Elmhurst.

The May total was only $70,740, including five new homes. These are being built at 214 and 305 N. Russell, 101 W. Milburn, 10 S. Owen, and 912 S. Ioka.

Plan for array exhibits
at 4-H fair

Extra tent space is being secured for the 4-H club festival scheduled at Recreation Park Arlington Heights, Friday and Saturday, August 27-28. This year poultry can be shown, and there will be extra livestock besides.

"We have in mind to make the 4-H club festival as acceptable as possible for boys and girls who have raised their calves and made dresses," said Henry L. Moehling, who is a member of the arrangements committee.

UNUSUAL displays are planned by some of the exhibitors who were at the festival last year. A model farm work shop will be placed at the end of the large merchant's exhibit tent. Space is now being allocated to exhibitors. It is expected that there will be a much larger display of farm machinery than a year ago.

This 4-H festival is made possible by the merchants and farmers of north Cook county. Admission is free to the public. No chance games will be allowed. Evening programs are being planned for the entertainment of visitors. An estimated two thousand people attended the show last year, and this year a larger attendance is looked for.

Village dads give 6 reasons why they oppose trailer camp

One result of the recent trailer town trouble in Arlington Heights has been a formal protest to a proposed trailer site by the village board to Cook County board of commissioners, the county clerk, and the zoning board of appeals.

The resolution, prepared by Village Attorney Hugo Thal, was approved at the board meeting Tuesday, July 6, and concerns approximately 23 acres on the east side of Wilke road, 300 feet north of Kirchhoff road, which petitioner requests be rezoned for business I and thus available for a trailer camp.

THE BOARD gives these reasons for opposing the trailer establishment:

(a) That said premises lie within less than 2680 feet of the southwestern limits of the village, which portion of the village is zoned for single family residential purposes.

(b) That said premises are low and have no sewer or other sanitary drainage facilities, and are so situated that they cannot obtain sanitary sewer facilities.

(c) That during rainstorms portions thereof become flooded, not having even adequate facilities for surface drainage.

(d) That the elevation of said premises and the soil texture thereof is such that septic tank systems will not adequately take care of sanitary sewer requirements; and

(e) That said premises are so situated that even the kitchen waste from a trailer camp cannot be disposed of; and

WHEREAS The school facilities of the schools in the Village of Arlington Heights, which schools the children from said territory would have to attend, are inadequate to accommodate the additional number of children coming from said territory that would have to attend such schools; and

WHEREAS various public and private organizations and many owners of property within the village have joined in the protest against such rezoning and have requested the President and Board of Trustees of this village that their rights and interests also be protected in so far as this village has power and authority to interest itself on behalf of such owners and organizations; now, therefore,

Cook County appeals ruling invalidating 59 percent increase on 1946 assessor's figures

Cook county will file notice of appeal before the deadline this week from the ruling of Federal Judge Michael L. Igge on June 7 invalidating $1,026,355 in 1946 personal property taxes against the former receivers of the Chicago Surface Lines, Assistant State's Attorney Melvin Winder-sky, in charge of civil appeals, said Friday.

Arlington Heights VFW post 981 and Arlington Heights firemen will sponsor a second annual celebration in Recreation park from Wednesday, July 21, through Sunday, July 25.

Stars of radio and stage will perform each of the five nights. Major attractions are a 1949 Ford sedan, a G. E. 8 cu. ft. refrigerator and a Whizzer motor bike.

C. & N. W. asks another fare increase

The North Western railroad has petitioned the Illinois Commerce commission for another 10 per cent fare increase in its commuter rates.

Several months ago, the North Western, along with a dozen other suburban lines, was granted a 20 per cent fare hike. In oral arguments before the Commission, North Western Attorney Nye F. Morehouse said that the 20 per cent takes care only of increased costs and that annual losses on the suburban lines still run at about two million dollars.

The Commission indicated that there will probably be a ruling on the petition by July 15.

Judge Igge ruled that the disputed tax, representing the 59 per cent increase in assessments by the state revenue board under the statewide equalization law, was invalid because the revenue board studied only sample sales of real estate in arriving at the figure. This is the first time a court has passed on the validity of the equalization law, which became effective on 1946 taxes.

WINDERSKY said the decision is "fraught with possibilities for Cook county if applied to other taxpayers, in addition to represent a million dollar loss on the taxes extended and spent." He will also ask Judge Igge this week to modify a supplemental finding entered Thursday without notice to the state's attorney, which is "much too broad," Winder-sky said.

Among these findings are the following: "That neither the debtors nor any of the affected thousands of taxpayers in Cook county whose assessments were equalized received any due notice of hearing as to the 1.59 factor."

"THAT THE revenue board failed to take into account revisions made by the board of tax appeals as required by the Revenue act" (The tax appeals board had adjourned as to personal property when the 1.59 factor was announced on Jan. 29, 1947.)

"That it is also invalid in that the board considered only a nominal number of real estate transfers in Cook county in comparison with the total number."

State revenue board increased 1947 valuations by 29% against which 77,000 persons in Cook county have filed objections. Attorneys consulted by Paddock Publications regarding what effect the Igge decision, if upheld, would have on local taxing bodies, were unwilling to voice an opinion, except to say that it is a dangerous situation.

New device records phone
eavesdropping

If you ever hear a brief, high, almost musical note on your telephone line while you are talking—a sort of gentle "beep" repeated every 15 seconds or so—you will know that the person to whom you are talking has a recording machine which is making a record of your conversation.

That announcement was made today by W. C. Lathen, manager here for the Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

The company will shortly apply to the Illinois Commerce Commission for authorization to install warning devices at the subscribers' premises wherever recording machines are known to be used on telephone conversations, according to Lathen. The warning signal is provided by the telephone company for its customers' protection in known cases. The telephone company will not manufacture the recording devices. It will install and maintain only the automatic tone warning device, for which there will be a monthly charge to the user.

The Federal Communications Commission has authorized the use of recording devices connected to a subscriber's telephone provided the company is notified by the user so that the warning signal may become part of the connection. When the machine is connected, the sound goes over the line automatically every 12 to 18 seconds.

"If you don't want a record made of a conversation," Lathen said, "ask the person with whom you are talking to disconnect the recording machine."

After August 2, it will be unlawful for anyone to use a recording machine with a telephone without using the equipment which sends the "beep" signal over the line.

Library quarters in municipal building

Mt. Prospect turns down dry wall construction

A letter from the secretary of Mt. Prospect public library board was among matters considered at a special meeting of village trustees Wednesday night, July 7.

The letter advised that a special library board meeting June 21, the board decided to accept temporary quarters on the second floor of the new municipal building, as offered unofficially by the trustees.

QUESTION was raised as to exact requirements of the library in using the presently planned community room. Since nothing definite has been proposed by either group, the trustees felt it necessary to discuss the matter further with members of the library board, and the clerk was instructed to write the secretary to this effect.

P.H.I.A. to celebrate 10th anniversary

Prospect Heights Improvement Association, now in its 11th year of community guardianship, will celebrate its tenth anniversary Wednesday evening July 21 during the monthly Town Meeting.

The need for a protective community organization grew out of a "shacktown" situation which developed during the spring of 1938. Residents of the community who attended a public meeting held at the residence of Edward Rauen North Elmhurst rd., on Monday evening, June 20, 1938 gave the association its name and its temporary officers. Those named to carry on the project and promote its legal formation were: Ed Sobwick, chairman; William Lancaster Jr., secretary; Edward Rauen, treasurer; William Payne and Frank Portman members of the executive committee.

The association was incorporated not for profit and elected its first officers at its annual meeting in May 1939. Those elected were: James M. Nielson, vice president; Homer C. Torreyson, secretary; Edward S. Miller, treasurer; Jerome A. Moeller, financial secretary. Those elected to the Board of Managers were: Rudolph Lhotsky, Emmett Gordon, Arthur J. Harpel, Thomas Underwood, Clarence Johnson and Angela Olson.

Those who have served as presidents of P. H. I. A. since 1939 are: William H. Spears, (1940); William Hopewell, (1941); George H. Moritz, (1942); J. Gordon Aiken, (1943); Warren E. Morris, (1944); Dan C. Robertson, (1945); John G. Hane, (1946); Michael C. DeMet, (1947); and A. J. Teborek, (1948).

In addition to serving as a protective organization for property holders, the P. H. I. A. has been extremely active in promoting annual community events. It sponsored the first Christmas parties for school and community children, the first community wide picnics, the first Halloween carnival, the first flower and garden shows, and the first Christmas celebration.

The P. H. I. A. also sponsored the activities of the Boy Scouts and the Cub Scouts sponsored the building of the Boy Scout Log Cabin, collection of funds for the High School Youth Center and the $8000 Bond issue to provide fire equipment for the fire district.

Cook County appeals ruling invalidating 59 percent increase on 1946 assessor's figures

Cook county will file notice of appeal before the deadline this week from the ruling of Federal Judge Michael L. Igce on June 7 invalidating $1,026,355 in 1946 personal property taxes against the former receivers of the Chicago Surface Lines, Assistant State's Attorney Melvin Winder-sky, in charge of civil appeals, said Friday.

Busse centennial

The Busse centennial celebration in Mt. Prospect last Sunday, July 4, brought together nearly 1500 members of the Busse family in one of the largest family reunions in the Midwest.

Members of the seven generations of descendants of Friedrich and Johanna Busse, original pioneers, gave thanks for 100 years of prosperous, fruitful living in America, and prayed for a great future for the "country of the Busses."

A news story of the Busse centennial appears on page 8 and pictures are on page 13.

Legion sponsors America's need for religion

The Mt. Prospect American Legion Post No. 525 has recently placed in Mt. Prospect several posters emphasizing America's need for religious education. "The American Legion believes a return to religion is one of the most effective ways of fighting communism," Commander Jack Hubbard of Mt. Prospect Post No. 525 said this week, explaining the Legion's newest window placard, bearing the message "No Child Has A Chance Who Has Not Been Taught To Pray And Love God."

Thousand of these colorful and impressive cards are being placed in street cars, elevated stations, bus lines, shop windows and other vantage spots throughout the state of Illinois. The four-color cards portray a mother, with son and daughter, kneeling in prayer at her knee. The message is a non-sectarian but highly effective appeal to parents to see that their children receive religious training. Speaking of the need for such an emphasis as this window placard makes, Commander Hubbard said, "Our Country suffers from spiritual poverty. The best job we can do for youth is that of religious education."

A reproduction of the window placards now being circulated by the Legion appears on page 8 of this issue. Churches or other organizations desirous of obtaining cards of this type for public display may contact Commander Hubbard, phone 1244-J.

Judge Igce ruled that the disputed tax, representing the 59 per cent increase in assessments by the state revenue board under the statewide equalization law, was invalid because the revenue board studied only sample sales of real estate in arriving at the figure. This is the first time a court has passed on the validity of the equalization law, which became effective on 1946 taxes.

WINDERSKY said the decision is "fraught with possibilities for Cook county if applied to other taxpayers, in addition to representing a million dollar loss on the taxes extended and spent."

He will also ask Judge Igce this week to modify a supplemental finding entered Thursday without notice to the state's attorney which is "much too broad," Winder-sky said.

Among these findings are the following:

"That neither the debtors nor any of the affected thousands of taxpayers in Cook county whose assessments were equalized received any due notice of hearing as to the 1.59 factor."

"THAT the revenue board failed to take into account revisions made by the board of tax appeals as required by the Revenue act" (The tax appeals board had adjourned as to personal property when the 1.59 factor was announced on Jan. 29, 1947.)

"That it is also void in that the board considered only a nominal number of real estate transfers in Cook county in comparison with the total number."

State revenue board increased 1947 valuations by 29% against which 77,000 persons in Cook county have filed objections. Attorneys consulted by Paddock Publications regarding what effect the Igce decision, if upheld, would have on local taxing bodies, were unwilling to voice an opinion, except to say that it is a dangerous situation.

Lutheran Old Folks Home festival Sunday in Arlington Heights

The Lutheran old folks home festival, to be held next Sunday, July 11, on the grounds of the home at Arlington Heights, will have two outstanding churchmen as speakers. Dr. Carl S. Munding, president of Saint John Lutheran college, Winfield, Kansas, will speak in the morning at 10:30, and Dr. F. C. Streufert, the Missouri synod's secretary of missions, St. Louis, Missouri, will speak at 3 p. m. Thousands of visitors from Chicago and other points in northern Illinois will be present at the festival to hear them.

Professor Carl S. Munding, M. A., Ph. D., is an author as well as an instructor and lecturer. Dr. Munding is an authority on the history of the Saxons who immigrated to St. Louis in 1839 and founded the Lutheran Missouri Synod, now an international Lutheran church with far flung churches and missions, known in every continent through Dr. Walter A. Maier's radio program, the Lutheran Hour.

Dr. F. C. Streufert, secretary of missions for the Missouri Synod, recently completed a 15,000 mile tour of South and Central America. To the festival audience he will bring a stirring message as to the church's responsibility toward its aged Christians. Later in the afternoon he will portray interesting and dramatic missionary experiences in the various mission fields of South America.

Visitors at the festival will find refreshment stands open from 12 noon until 3 p. m. and following the afternoon service. The stands will serve ice cream, soft drinks, candy, sandwiches, and lunches. As in other years the visitors will enjoy eating their lunches on the home's grounds.

A fancy goods booth on the front lawn of the home will offer exquisitely made fancy goods for sale. One of the outstanding attractions of the festival, the fancy goods booth will display articles prepared by a ladies group of St. Peter Church and others, Arlington Heights, and by residents of the home. A number of ladies groups of great Chicago have also participated some by furnishing goods and others by monetary contributions.

The choir of Immanuel Lutheran church, Palatine, will participate in the afternoon's entertainment. The Harmony Band of Chicago, directed by Dr. Roy-al Reimer, besides playing for the services will also entertain the festival guests. Miss Ruth Pfotenbauer, Chicago, will sing for the afternoon service as well as for the entertainment.

Traffic will be directed by Arlington Heights police and deputy police. Saint Peter Boy Scouts, Troop 37, and Troop 7, Arlington Heights, will assist them and also perform messenger and other needed services. Troop 7 will furnish a first aid tent.

Nurses of Walther Memorial hospital, Chicago, will be on duty to furnish first aid.

Campfire girls are 'nature girls' at Elk Grove outing

PRACTICE HANSEL AND GETEL FOLK DANCE

BLUE BIRDS "BRUSH UP" DANCE STEPS FOR PARENTS

An exhibition of handcraft done at camp included plaster casts of leaf impressions, clay models, flower pictures in twig frames, and spatter paintings of leaves.

Days were not all spent sitting still, however. Each group learned folk dancing and songs. The Blue Birds demonstrated their "Little Pony Trot," the younger Camp Fire girls danced "Hansel and Gretel" and the older girls, "Old Zip Coon."

Nancy Bear was called on to tell about their first nature class. Following this Nan-Holm told, with gestures, how to build four different camp fires.

One of the older girls, Barbara Arnold, told of their experiences in trail blazing.

Just Among Ourselves

by VIOLA P. SPEARS

One of the most interesting, yet trying of all youth organization work or civic duties is, perhaps, the assignment of Den Mother, the key position in Cub Scout work.

The task of a Den Mother requires patience, initiative, ingenuity, and an ability to overcome the most natural urge of favoritism. The reward is great, for it offers an experience of exploring a boy's world, and an important Den Mother earns the esteem of her boys which will be lasting over a great many years. This esteem naturally is wholly personal and individual. Under normal situations it rises gradually and then matures as youth passes into adult age. As the boy looks back to his boyhood days he has a great fondness for the kind, understanding and playful lady who helped him along the road. Those memories are pleasant indeed.

Once in a great while this esteem surges forward and breaks spontaneously during boyhood days. But such action is rare indeed. Of course such action can be falsely stimulated, but it is easily seen and quickly spotted by any student of human relations or psychology. The stimulated esteem is not real and does not arouse emotion, consequently it falls flat and lacks enthusiasm.

We in Prospect Heights witnessed one of those rare surges at the last Cub pack meeting. A den mother had mastered a wild idea of 8 Cubs. She had directed that idea into constructive channels. The boys went to work, created their "Melody Cubs," gave their show and won the admiration of all who heard them. They later were lifted by a demand performance before their sponsoring organization. These young chaps have secured ego satisfaction. Then came a shock, their den mother next year, secretly and spontaneously they decided to show their love for both their den mother and den dad. A parting gift was talked about, purchased, and with grins from ear to ear the 8 Cubs stood up at the pack meeting and made their presentation much to the discomfort and embarrassment of the adults who were pals to the boys while doing their bit to raise good citizens. It was a night that the boys and the recipients of their gifts will long remember. It was one of those rare break throughs that come once in a lifetime.

This fortunate couple, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rickmeyer secured their reward on the spot. Other den leaders have not been so fortunate to have "gang" unity in action spring forth and center on one activity which gives ego satisfaction to all minds simultaneously. Nevertheless the appreciation and love is there and there is little doubt that similar action probably could have taken place in almost any den had some project worked itself into "gang" unity and a necessary spark ignited a fire.

Thirty-five help Don Robertson celebrate

Genial, jovial and hard working Don Robertson celebrated his umthirtieth birthday anniversary amidst a gathering of close friends and relatives Sunday, July 4.

The anniversary party was held in Robertson's lovely formal garden with tables decorated with roses. There was a huge birthday cake and some 35 guests to share it with "pappy" as Dan is affectionately known among his close friends and family.

It was a real party for "pappy," one of those affairs that is dear to one's heart. Mrs. Robertson had provided a heavily laden Smorgasbord because Robertson has often glorified its wonders for the benefit of the uninitiated. He described it once at a P.H.I.A. meeting as an ideal method of eating. "You take it standing up because you can eat more in an erect attitude, and the exercises of the many reachings for delicious dainties seem to give the appetite more activity."

Robertson cut his own birthday cake and served. Those helping him celebrate included: his son, D. C. Robertson, Jr. and children, Bobbie and little Daniel VII; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oppen, of Elmwood Park, and their children Norma, Joan and Lorraine; Mr. and Mrs. William Burdard, of Oak Park, and their three children, Tony and Catherine; Mrs. Jessie Burdard, of Cleveland, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bell, of Chicago, and their children Donald and Bruce; Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Arnold, of Norwood Park; Mr. and Mrs. James Nielsen, of Arlington Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schmidt, Elmer Schettko and son Daniel, William Schettko Jr., William Schettko Sr., and Miss Bertha Schettko, all of Chicago; William Blessing of Glenview; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Waller, of Prospect Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lietzow and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Niemann, of Chicago. The Niemanns were house guests of the Robertsons for the week end.

And dads who are to enjoy the esteem of those for whom they helped progress upward are: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tollefson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert House, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brownell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McManus, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dallstrom, Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Straus, Mr. Oliver Lynk, Mr. and Mrs. Ted C. Meeker, Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Borroughs, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Watson, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Weise.

Prospector's Gleanings

The Fourth of July celebration reminded us of the fact that this year is one of the greatest Centennial years in Illinois' history. To mention just a few of the 100th anniversaries, there was the Swedish Pioneer Centennial this spring, the Centennial celebration of the opening of the Illinois and Michigan Canal in June, the Busse family Centennial last Sunday and the railroad centennial just ahead.

A Centennial of importance unsurpassed is the 100th anniversary of the coming of the 48ers to this country. That marked the beginning of the great German immigration. The move was toward America because Germany's first democratic government had failed. The patriots were denounced as revolutionists — they were overthrown and dispersed. Many of their leaders were sent to prison, some to their death. It was but natural that most of those who escaped turned their eyes to America. They were crusaders. They stood for personal liberty, tolerance and national unity. They were determined to inculcate in what they had not been permitted to attain in Germany. They were against know-nothingism, "blue laws," militarism and slavery. They were for home ownership and the sanctity of the home.

Early area pioneers

The Raupps and the Weidners settled in the Buffalo Grove area and the Frederick Busses in Elk Grove. A very large portion of their descendants still reside in the area which surrounds Prospect Heights. Mrs. Mary K. Raupp, who lives just north of the schoolhouse, is the oldest of the Weidners living in this area. She celebrated her 80th birthday early in April. Henry W. Busse, 91 of Des Plaines, is the living patriarch of the Busse families. Commissioner William Busse, 80, is the oldest living member of the third generation of the Louis Busse family. He is the most prominent and looked upon as the head of the Busse family. He is widely known in business, civic and political affairs and has many friends in Prospect Heights. Mr. Busse's political life began in 1890, when he accepted a position as deputy sheriff. He has been a member of the County Board of Commissioners since 1900 and was elected president of the board for two terms. He's a grand man and has been a great friend to Prospect Heights.

Attractive flowers

Beautiful roses were the most predominating flowers over the holiday week end although clever decorative petunia flowers ran a close second. Attractive rose displays, not previously spotted, were seen at the Eugene W. Oldhams, the Nippon M. Winters, the M. D. Granis, the Harry Nelsons, the Conrad Mikols, the Ralph J. Olsons, the Ted C. Meekers, the Robert Pohlmanns, the Arnold Walds, the Carl Pfeifers, the Samuel Dempseys and the Walt Nessens. Rose standouts were the rose fence at the rear of the Henry P. Johnsons at 207 Elm and the pink climbers at the garage of the Michael C. DeMets.

Attractive petunia displays worth seeing were spotted at the Fred C. Jungbluths, the Ray A. Lauths, the Thomas A. Crooks and the Charles Olsons.

Veritable flower fairylands were seen at the A. W. Granlund, the Rudolph Bandelows and the Otto J. Rezekes. The Charles J. Tunniss flower display was augmented by a colorful beach umbrella and hammock.

Another fairyland, but hidden from street view, is that of the Arthur Hansen residence on East Willow. Here among the many types of flowers is a gorgeous display of blue delphiniums.

At the Herman C. Meyer home beautiful red poppies are in bloom. Another attractive display of the same flower dominated the flowers at the Edward A. Fabers.

New sights about town

The most novel of week end sights was the small rubber swimming pool at the Paul J. Bratts. Improvements noted included: the new garage and breezeway being built at the Charles Retterers; the porch under way at the Rudy J. Gurlts; the new black top driveway at the Henry A. Gorders; the new porch at the rear of the Joseph A. Daltons; the addition of two rooms and bath project at the Fred Hedemars; the addition project at the George Westermans.

New painting ventures were under way at the E. Allen Fahrners, the Sheridan T. Winters, the L. G. Greens and the Walter R. Bernes.

New residents

Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick L. Kolb moved into their new home, the former Russell H. Daniels residence July 3. The Kolbs came to our community from Kirkwood, Mo. They have three grown children, Fred, who resides with his parents, Jack a sophomore at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and a married daughter, Mrs. Carl N. Miller, of Indianapolis, Ind. Mr. Kolb is with the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mitchell, of Chicago, moved into their recently constructed new home at 210 North Parkway, Wednesday, June 30. They have two children, Susan Carol, age 2, and Donald Earl, 8 months. Mr. Mitchell is an engineer with the Chicago Transformer Exxer Wire Corp.

Leaving town

The Russell H. Daniels left town Thursday, July 1 for their new home at La Canada, Calif. The overland furniture vans pulled away shortly after 3:00 o'clock in the evening.

The David S. Williams left town Wednesday by car and trailer on both a vacation tour and a quest for a suitable place to settle where the climate would agree with Williams' health. They plan to visit Denver and the Pikes Peak region enroute to Pueblo where they will visit friends and see Bob Dallstrom who is vacationing there. They then will motor through the New Mexico Indian country visiting such noted spots as Taos, Santa Fe, Albuquerque and Laguna enroute to Arizona. Miss Joyce will return to the University of Illinois in the fall to finish her senior year in radio journalism and then marry Albert C. Blumheim, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a fellow student at Illinois. Miss Sally's plans were rather indefinite as to her senior year of high school, but four years of study at the University of Arizona now seem probable.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cothrin, of Oak Park, were the purchasers of the Williams' home.

The Hugo A. Stempel and the Norman Boehmers have placed their homes for sale.

Vacationists

The Gerald I. Burks who are summering on the shores of Lake Gogebic, in the wilds of Mich., are keeping up-to-date on Prospect Heights news by having the Herald follow them as far as Merriweather each week. When paper day arrives Mrs. Burk and her daughter Lynette board their new 16-horsepower Johnson outboard motor and race at 30 miles an hour to Merriweather, eight miles away.

Since their arrival at their summer home they have painted the house trim and floor, planted a garden which sprouted in three days and enjoyed a wee bit of fishing. On one fishing outing Lynette landed a two pound walleyed pike. Mrs. Burk tells us the wild strawberries are luscious as usual.

Charles L. Jack returned to work Monday morning following a two weeks vacation at home. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Faber started their vacation with a trip to Danville last Saturday where they visited with Mr. Faber's father, Phillip Faber. They returned home on Monday. Young Gordon Sabados, of Elmwood Park, will visit his grandparents while Mr. Faber is on vacation at home.

Local itemettes

Mrs. Louis Parker and her daughter Miss Viola Parker, of Cicero, are house guests of the Fred C. Jungbluths. Miss Parker and her mother arrived on Saturday June 26 and plan to spend at least two weeks. Miss Parker and Mrs. Jungbluth have been friends of long standing, dating back to their school days in St. Louis. Miss Parker also is the second oldest employee in length of service with the Medical Mailing Service Inc., the organization of which Mr. Jungbluth is president.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klepper together with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Klepper and infant son, Stephen, of Frankfurt, Ill., were week end guests of Pastor and Mrs. Robert F. Klepper.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Sheppard and their two boys, George and John, journeyed to Fort Madison, Iowa, over the holiday where they were the guests of the H. J. Sheppards.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stempel and daughter Ann, of Lafayette, Ind., were week end guests at the Hugo A. Stempels.

Mrs. Stanley Petersen returned Monday from Indianapolis, Ind., where, with her daughter Leigh, they were the guests of Pastor and Mrs. Donald Elder. Miss Leigh Petersen remained in Indianapolis as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Knafein and will vacation in picturesque Brown County. During the absence of Mrs. Petersen, Mrs. Clara Petersen, of Chicago, visited with her son and grandson, Chucky.

Cle Darius E. Hickling, on leave from the Marshall Islands in the Pacific, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Victor DeCamp, 301 E. Marion. Seaman Hickling is here for 10 days and expects to return to the Pacific next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Retterer Sr., of Chicago, are house guests of their son and family, the Charles Retterers Jr. They plan to make their visit a lengthy one.

The George J. Westermans celebrated the 4th with an outdoor barbecue supper with 25 guests attending. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Makela, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Makela, Mr. and Mrs. George Makela, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Groat and grandson David Kuncle, all of Waukegan; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Makela, and son Richard and Ronald, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. Gladys Jones, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Mrs. Arne Makela and children, Arne, Ann, Lyn and Wayne, of Highland Park; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Raven, and son Bob, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goldmeister, of Prospect Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Norby, the Misses Inga and Jean Norby, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Norby and daughter Linda Lee, together with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meyers, of Chicago, were guests of the Christian Norbys last Saturday. On the 4th, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norby, of Chicago, were guests at the Norby home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hedemark and son Freddie, together with Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Mayrs, journeyed to Camp Hickory, Hill, Wis., Sunday July 4th, to visit with Miss Carol Hedemark who is vacationing for two weeks at this noted Girl Scout Camp. Miss Carol will return home Sunday July 11.

Walter Jollic, of Springfield, was a holiday guest of his parents' the Harold B. Jollics. He came home on Saturday, and returned to Springfield Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan T. Winters journeyed to Oak Park last Saturday to attend the wedding ceremony of their niece, Miss Beverly Kennedy, to Robert Schneider, of Oak Park. The wedding ceremony took place at high noon at the Church of the Ascension. Over 300 guests attended the wedding reception at the Carlton Hotel held later in the day.

Miss Ellen Engstrom, of Chicago, was a house guest of the Samuel Gilberts on Tuesday of last week. Over the holiday week end the Gilberts entertained a number of friends and relatives. On Saturday it was a lawn party with dinner served buffet style for 20 guests, followed by croquet, cards and lawn movies. Guests participating were: Mr. and Mrs. Horace Whitehouse Sr., of Evanston, and their children Adelair, Phillip and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Whitehouse Jr. of Chicago and daughter Pamela; Mr. and Mrs. David McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whitehouse, of Chicago; Mrs. Martha Klores, Tanny and Judy, of Evanston. On Sunday, Mrs. Myrtle Gundersen was a dinner guest, and Walter Keebaugh, of Kansas City, Mo., arrived to spend a week with his sister, Mrs. Gilbert.

On Monday the Gilberts journeyed to Chicago where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whitehouse. Mrs. Whitehouse is Mrs. Gilbert's daughter. Petersens celebrate

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Petersen celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary Thursday, June 24, with a celebration party at their home. Thirty friends and relatives joined together in helping the Petersens make it a memorable occasion.

The peace of Mt. Prospect was marred Sunday night at one a.m. by a citizen who had celebrated the Fourth a little too strenuously, and let his curiosity get out of hand.

Officer Fosland finally arrested the man on South Wapella avenue after following him on foot from the east side of town in order to get sufficient evidence. Suspecting him of nocturnal activities for some time, the police had been handicapped by lack of evidence.

After cooling off overnight in a cell at Arlington Heights, the culprit appeared in Judge Gould's court Tuesday evening to ask for an extension of time before making his plea.

Vacation school closes with program, exhibit

Prospect Heights Summer Vacation school closed its fifth successful season Thursday evening, July 1, with a work exhibit and an open air finishing program, followed by a school picnic on Friday.

Approximately 95 adults witnessed the finishing program which was held on the grounds at the rear of the church. The hum of passing automobiles, creaky swings and the roar of airplanes overhead combined to drown out the little folks' voices. They did, however, put on an excellent program in spite of these handicaps.

Pastor Robert F. Klepper opened the evening's exercises with a word of welcome and invocation. Mrs. Klepper, who served as director, gave a brief outline of the work at the school, the tiny tots sang several songs and answered questions regarding the worship theme of their studies.

A story of children 'round the world was interestingly told by David Drechsel when he told the tale of "Trudy and Her Goats," and Joan Hanson who told the story of "Hassch and the Baby Camel." Young Eddie Warwick told of "Good Neighbors to Jim" and "Note Book Stories" were given by Charles Petersen, Carol Holcomb, Eddie Warwick, Patricia Carroll, Dale Vohs, Susan B. Hane and Tommy Reinsma.

Drama class play

The dramatic class which had been instructed by Mrs. J. Earle Smith, Mrs. William Watson and Mrs. R. B. Randolph, then presented an interesting playlet called "A Victory For Religious Freedom," which was adopted by Pastor Klepper from the story "The Bible on Legs."

The play was enacted upon an impromptu stage and the players were in costume. Charlene Ledyard, as the reader, introduced each scene with a few introductory lines linking the scenes together. Dale Busch was excellent as Razaka and both Lois Petersen, as Razaka's father, and Sally Fluent as the Town Crier, played their parts well. Supporting players were: George Eckhardt as Ramitrah; Barbara Day as the girl friend; Jane Ann Torreyson as Ramitrah's wife; Bobby Raven and Judy Abad as friends; Lois Petersen, Charles Watson and Sally Fluent as soldiers; and Charles Watson as Valu.

Following the playlet the little tots gave an exhibition of the Danish, French and Swedish fun songs, and then the entire school sang a number of foreign songs, some in foreign language. Perhaps the most interesting number of the group was the one song sung in Hebrew.

Exhibits

Immediately after the program parents of the students visited the exhibits which were on display within the church. The electric lamps, made under the supervision of Pastor Klepper and Mrs. John G. Spillar, and the Chinese sun hats, made under the supervision of Mrs. Lorton M. Fluent and Mrs. Earl Busch, were particularly attractive and created the most favorable comment. Other exhibits of note were the hobby horses, jointed toys, small drums, birch bark canoes, clay plaques, yarn dolls and the art work.

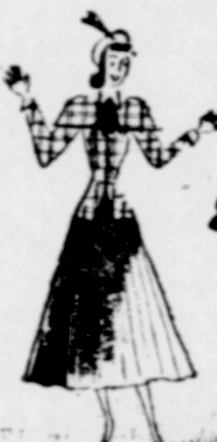

Enrollment this year began with 107 pupils on opening day and reached 130 prior to the close of the two week session. Average daily attendance was 97 pupils. Fifty-seven pupils were awarded perfect attendance certificates.

New lesson material

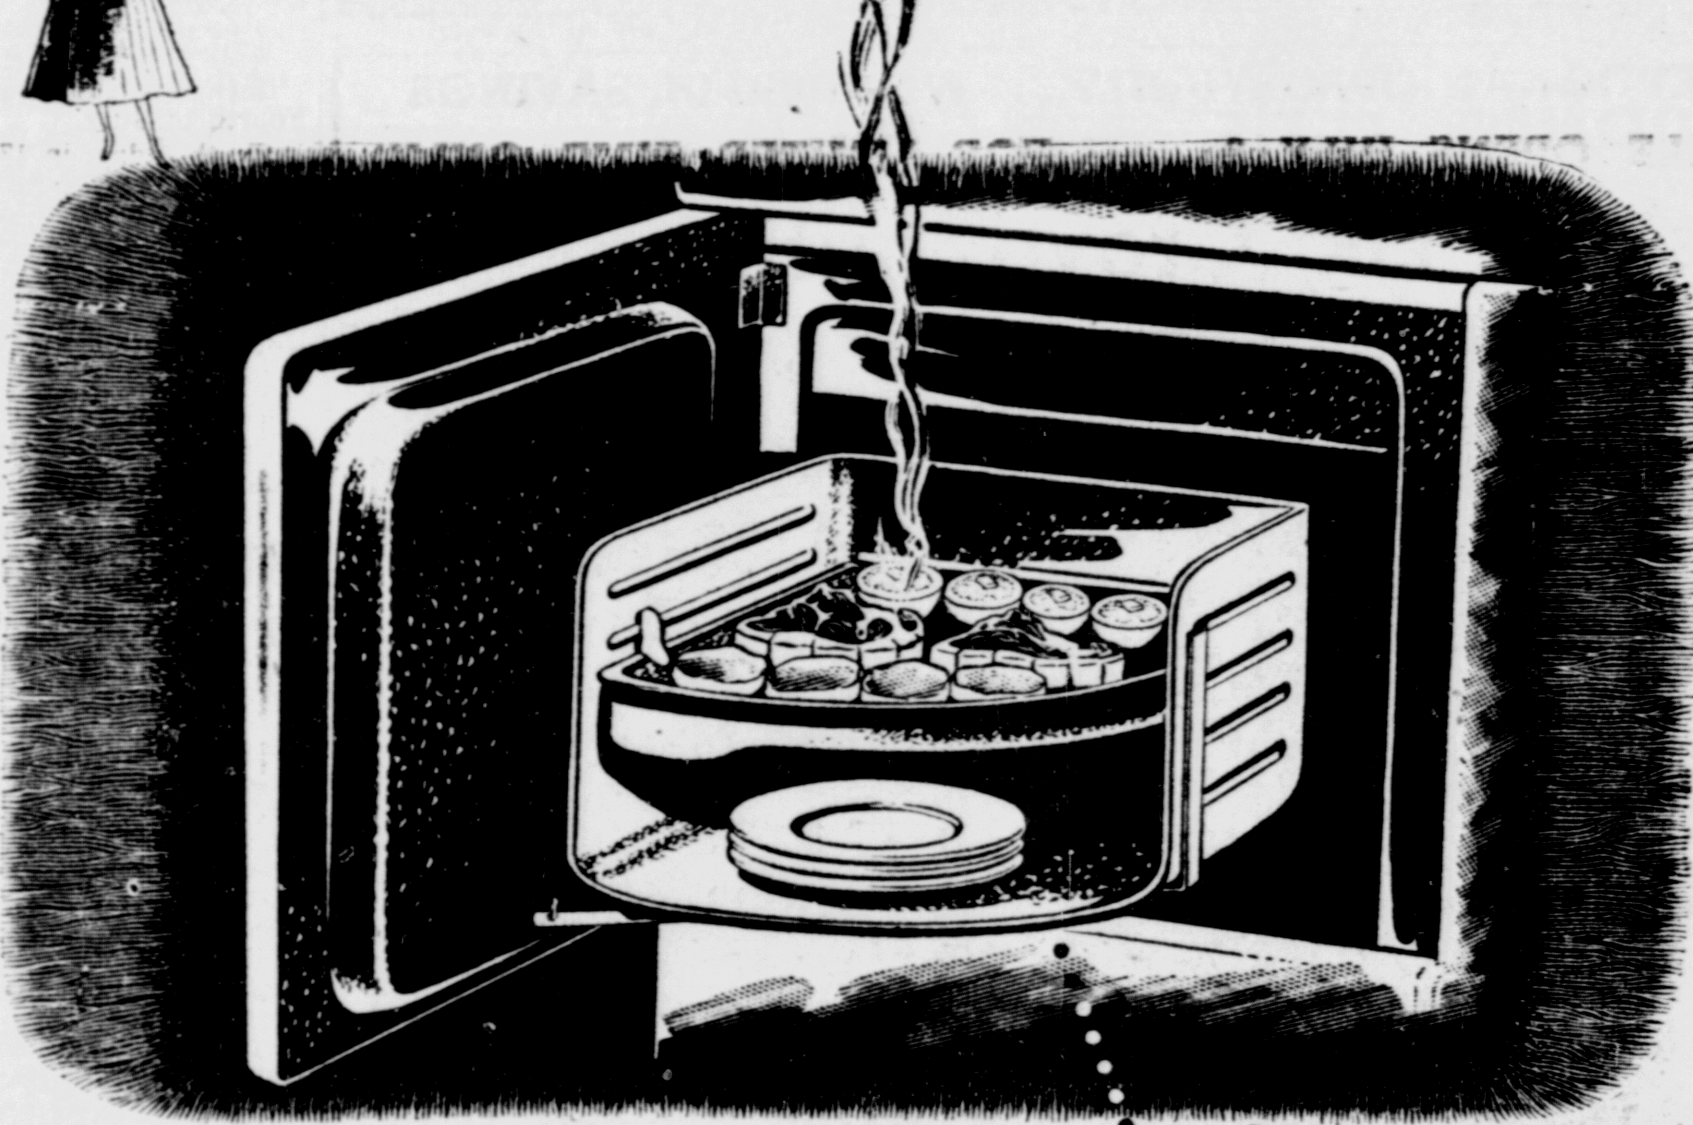

Rev. G. McCracker of the Chicago office of the Presbyterian church will be guest speaker before a special meeting of all Community church Sunday school teachers Friday evening, June 9.

Rev. McCracker will present to the teachers a series of new materials to be used in Sunday school work. A sound film will supplement his discussion.

Although the meeting is primarily for teachers anyone in the community who is interested in Christian education for youth is invited to attend. The meeting will begin at 8:00 o'clock and will be held at the Community church.

Chicago motorists use Ela-Palatine road for race track

Four Chicago youths and one from Park Ridge were arrested on charges of reckless driving at Palatine and Ela roads, Palatine township, late Thursday night by the Morton Grove county highway police.

The youths, according to Sgt. John Selle, were racing one another on motorcycles along Ela road near the intersection. The highway police made the arrest on the complaint of Harold Vogt, Route 2, Palatine.

Previous complaints for the past several weeks brought the police to the "race track," Sgt. Selle said, but the men eluded the deputies each time.

Those arrested Thursday were Richard Ecklund, 21, of 1755 West Arthur, Park Ridge; Allen Sinedell, 20, of 1712 Albion avenue; Henry Merz, 21, 1932 Maple avenue; John Tobin, 21, of 1748 Albion avenue, and John Szykowski, 20, of 5719 Pensacola avenue. The latter four are all Chicagoans.

The youths, who were released after posting bonds of $50 each, will be arraigned in the Morton Grove police court July 7.

Prospect Heighters celebrate 4th

With a biff bang here, a crack crack there, and a blimp in the air, scared rabbits scampered hurriedly from bushes across lawns while Prospect Heights observed the nation's oldest and most important holiday, Independence Day.

For many residents it marked a three day respite from work, for some it meant guests and dinners and, for still more, automobile trips to lakes, resorts and relatives.

At the business block the shiny new Ford attracted many customers on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Many stay-at-homes attended Sunday morning church services at both the Community church and Bible church. Some journeyed to Chicago Sunday evening to see the 14th pageant and fireworks display at Soldiers Field while others witnessed several of the local backyard displays of red fire, green fire, sparklers, Roman candles and skyrockets.

Throughout the community, flags were flying at many homes. Monday morning some twenty American flags were flying proudly at the following homes: the Richard Lamberts, the Harolds, the W. K. Andrews, the Arthur Hansens, the H. L. Tallowitz, the Fred Hedemarks, the Edward Saunders, the Hugo A. Stempels, the Rudolph Bandelows, the A. D. Abernathys, the Carley Dufrenses, the Allen Joses, the Hubert Rodgers, the Dudley Days, the James Vondraks, the Victor Androses; the Homer C. Torreysons, the George DeStories, the Homer C. Sylvesters, the Samuel Gilberts, the Charles J. Olsons, the Robert Houses, the Hubert E. Meusels, and the William H. Watsons.

On Monday evening nearly half of the folks remaining in town for the holiday visited Arlington Heights to witness its gorgeous annual fireworks display.

In all the glamour of noisy firecrackers house parties, motor trips and fireworks displays, a comparatively few citizens probably gave a second thought to the tremendous significance of the Fourth of July.

On that day, in 1776, a galaxy of superlative great men—great in mind and great in soul—subscribed to one of the noblest philosophies ever penned by man—a political document which yields only to the Decalogue and the Sermon on the Mount in its constructive influence upon mankind.

But that was just the beginning. First they had to battle and struggle through the Revolutionary war. They won by sticking together, sacrificing together. Then they had to set up their own government. They elected John Hansen, of Delaware, president of these United States, but their government failed because the thirteen states didn't stay together and sacrifice together after the war. So they tried again and set up another government in which the thirteen became one. This time they succeeded, establishing a government under our present Constitution chiefly through the great leadership of George Washington.

The Declaration, to which these great men of 1776 boldly penned their names and challenged one of the Great Powers of the earth, the Constitution, and some 170 other of America's rarest treasures and historic documents were seen by several residents during the week, when they visited the Freedom Train. The seven-car train exhibition, located at 16th and Outer Drive, Chicago, was open daily from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. all week long. The Freedom Train's visit closes Friday evening July 9 at 10 o'clock.

Arlington police assist Palatine after auto accident

Police radio service between Palatine and Arlington Heights scored again late Sunday night when an auto accident occurred on the highway south of Palatine road. Answering the radio call for help, Arlington officers Karstens and Bauer directed southbound traffic over Palatine road while the accident was being cleared up.

Two women were injured and taken to Palatine hospital. Miss Gertrude Bartsch, 18, Clyde ave., Palatine, who suffered from shock, bruises and lacerations requiring four stitches, was released from the hospital the following day. The other woman, Mrs. St. John, who had hit the windshield, sustained more severe injuries, but was able to return to her home Tuesday evening at 6151 W. Cornelia ave., Chicago.

Miss Bartsch was making a left hand turn from Larry's service station. Because of a mechanical defect, she was unable to straighten the car out, which continued to turn left, reentering the southbound lane, where it collided with a car being driven by S. E. St. John.

"GLAD TIDINGS" by GEORGE WESTERMANN

The heavy rains of last week really pulled the glads out of the ground. But at the same time it pushed and caked the ground so that cultivation is essential.

The hot weather following the rains will hatch the thrip eggs and from now until frost the plants should be sprayed every ten days.

One week from Saturday the round of glad shows of the Illinois Glad Society opens at Edwardsville. From then until Labor Day will find members of the Society competing each week end for ribbons and the coveted honor of the "Best Glad in the Show."

Novices will do well to attend one of the earlier shows as a spectator to become acquainted with the method of showing flowers. From my contests with novices and children in the community I believe these two classes will be "tougher" than the amateur class and may be I am pleased not to have to compete in either of these two groups at Prospect Heights on August 28 and 29.

Ward Co.

The Chas. Kule home at 211 S. Elmhurst ave., Mt. Prospect, has been sold to Howard S. Feige of Chicago. Mr. Feige is an executive of the Bear Brand Hosiery Co. The Kules have moved to their new home in Arlington Heights.

The Edward Fischer home at 302 N. Elmhurst ave., Mt. Prospect, has been sold to Clarence O. Schlaver of Chicago. Mr. Schlaver is connected with the Chicago Daily News. The Fischers have moved to their new home in Elgin, Ill.

Mr. Hendrickson stated also that the mortgage market was much better than was experienced a few months ago, and that good sound mortgages are in demand.

Diabetes Heredity

Diabetes is most likely to occur in persons who have diabetic relatives. The disease strikes most often in middle and old age, and more women than men get it. The highest diabetes mortality is among the better-off classes, and the lowest among workers doing hard manual work.

Piano quartet will come to Arlington under Community concert plan

Even though all details have not yet been completed for setting up a Community Concert association for Arlington Heights and surrounding area, the group has received definite word that one of the concert attractions will be the Piano Quartet, heard over Chicago radio networks on Saturdays.

At a recent meeting of the group in Arlington, Daniel Poole, midwest representative of the national Community Concert organization, spoke to members about the membership campaign which has been set for the week of September 20. Season subscriptions will be accepted all week and until 6 p. m. Saturday, September 25, and will cost $6, tax included.

Four new members were selected to lead the membership drive for the newly-organized association, which will stage a membership drive in September. The new officials are Mrs. Arthur Franzen, general chairman; Mrs. Peter B. Atwood, dinner chairman, and Mrs. John Callender and Mrs. George Dapples, headquarters secretaries. All are from Arlington Heights.

Six more board members will be elected between now and September by the local group to include representation from Mt. Prospect, Palatine, and Prospect Heights.

Officials already elected are Gail Block Jr., president; Milo Little, first vice-president; Mrs. C. F. Hansen, secretary, and A. H. Franzen, treasurer. Board members elected at the initial meeting in May include F. C. Schmoeyer, Mrs. Paul P. Immel, Kenneth Kennedy, Mrs. Rowland Laughlin and Mrs. Ira C. Parker.

Plan for array exhibits at 4-H fair

Extra tent space is being secured for the 4-H club festival scheduled at Recreation Park Arlington Heights, Friday and Saturday, August 27-28. This year poultry can be shown, and there will be extra livestock besides.

"We have in mind to make the 4-H club festival as acceptable as possible for boys and girls who have raised their calves and made dresses," said Henry L. Moehling, who is a member of the arrangements committee.

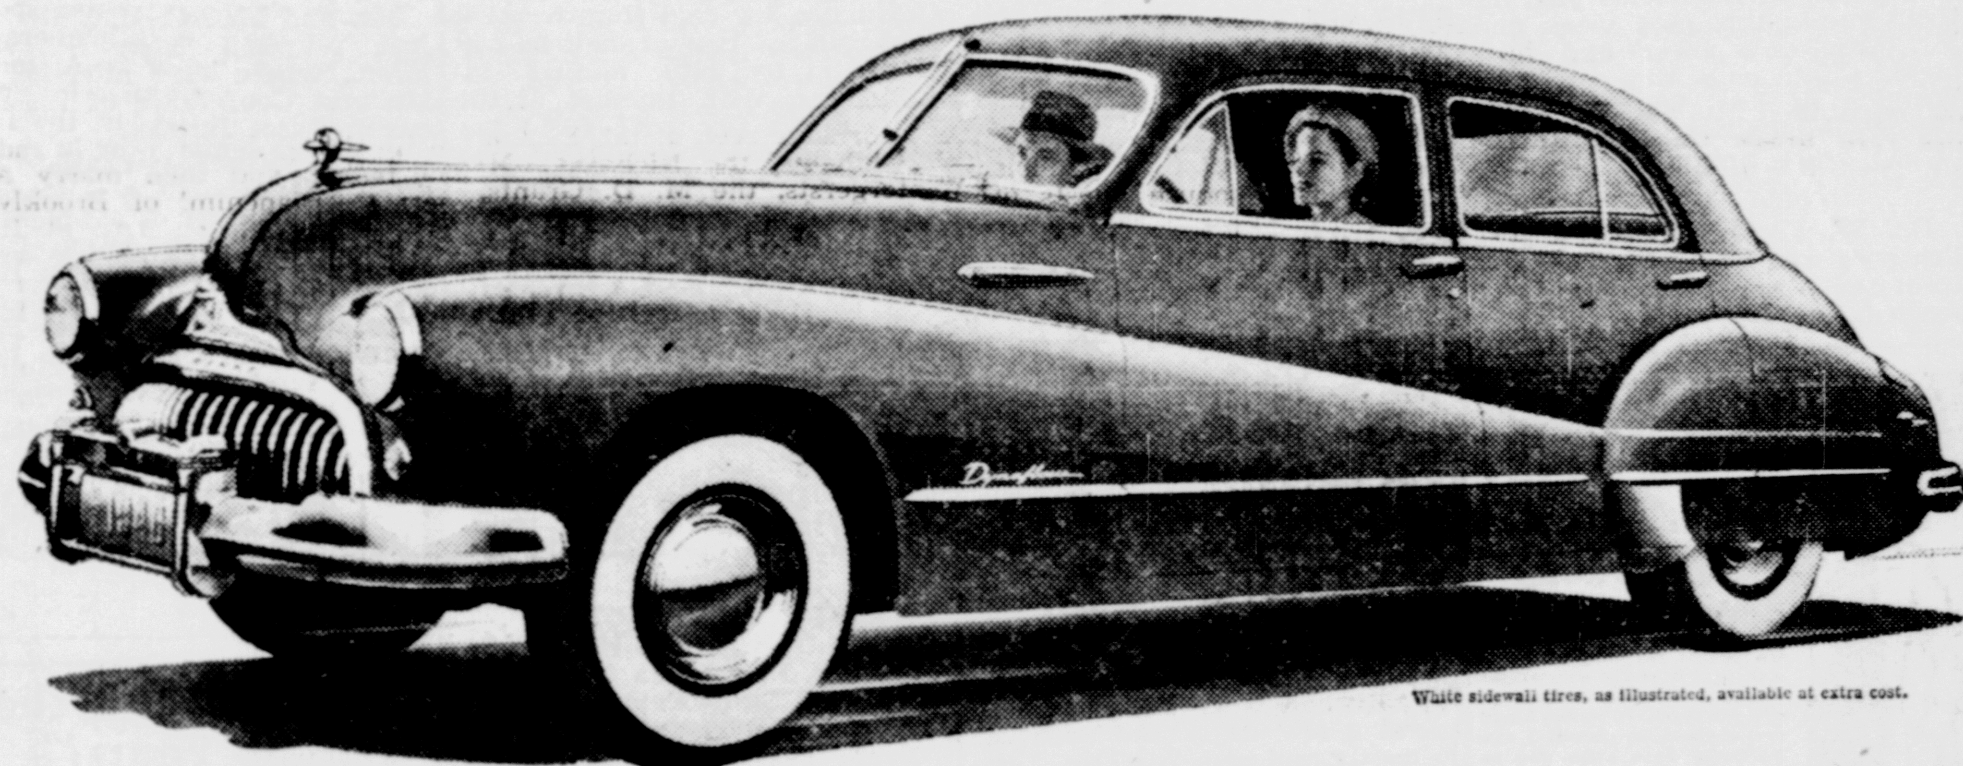

UNUSUAL displays are planned by some of the exhibitors who were at the festival last year. A model farm work shop will be placed at the end of the large merchant's exhibit tent. Space is now being allocated to exhibitors. It is expected that there will be a much larger display of farm machinery than a year ago.

This 4-H festival is made possible by the merchants and farmers of north Cook county. Admission is free to the public. No chance games will be allowed. Evening programs are being planned for the entertainment of visitors. An estimated two thousand people attended the show last year, and this year a larger attendance is looked for.

SHEER TRAVEL MAGIC

THIS is the Buick America's car buyers are buzzing about. This is the one with travel magic flowing all through it.

This is the ROADMASTER with Dynaflo Drive*—where Main Street's dense traffic, the inviting open road and the long, stretching hills are bossed with equal ease by a toe-touch.

What's Different About DYNAFLO DRIVE?

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-boosting action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

Here you let your left foot idle comfortably wherever you wish—there's no clutch pedal to push, ever.

Here your mind's free completely of remembering when to shift—no gears ever shift anywhere in the car.

Here, you glide over ground and grades in swift and utter smoothness as constant and unbroken as Niagara's flow.

For here you have the only passenger car in America where liquid replaces both the usual clutch and the low-second-high gear sequence of conventional transmissions.
